Sweepstake Tickets Bring Half Million To Lucky Canadians

Kenora, Ont., Mill Worker, Aged 70, Gets $150,000; B.C. People Unlucky

Winnings in U.S. Total $4,671,946

TORONTO (CP)—Biggest of a $618,650 Canadian "take" in the Irish Hospital Sweepstake on the Grand National Steeplechase today fell into the lap of 70-year-old Mike Meehan of Kenora, Ont.

Meehan, holding ticket JQ25443 on Battleship, won $150,000 when the son of Man O'War won his thrilling duel at Aintree, Eng., from Royal Danieli.

Employed at $30 a week in a flour mill, Meehan had refused to sell a half-interest in his ticket for $3,150.

"Glory me, this thing is a gamble," he said Thursday. "If a man's gambling, let him gamble. You can't be a half-timer on a shot like this." Mike used the nom de plume "Gale" on his ticket.

WINS $75,000

A Canadian who used the nom de plume "Norman" held a ticket on Royal Danieli and won $75,000. His name was not known this afternoon.

Holders of tickets worth $50,000 on the third place Workman were Harry Jefkoyikz, 42, of Toronto, and Tom Krushelnicki in Fort William Ont. It was understood both sold half-interests in the tickets, the Fort William man for $5,000 and the other for $3,800.

Thus of the $618,650 won by Canadians on the race, $325,000 went to the four holding tickets on the horses placing.

Forty-eight will collect $2,300 on horses that started but were unplaced, the same amount going to 56 others who drew non-starters.

In addition 125 won $500 consolation prizes and one will collect a residual prize worth $1,150.

SEES ROSY FUTURE

KENORA, Ont. (CP) — Mike Meehan of Kenora, employee of the Maple Leaf Flour Mill here, today looked into a rosy future with $150,000 he won through a ticket on Battleship in the Irish Hospitals Sweepstake on the Grand National Steeplechase at Aintree.

When the fortune fell into his lap, Mike, a native of the Ottawa district, headed for home. He told his wife the glad tiding and, according to Mike, "she was really flustered."

"I was nervous for a while, but I am under control now," said the soft spoken Meehan. "I haven't decided on anything yet, not even if we'll take a little trip. We're still kind of fussed.

JAPAN WANTS MEXICAN OIL

Offer Comes as Plans Made to Pay For Seized U.S.-British Properties

TOKIO (AP)—Through private companies Japan is preparing to offer Mexico a huge oil contract for the purchase of nearly 500,000 barrels of crude oil annually, it was learned here Friday.

The contract would provide for Japanese technical assistance in construction of pipelines and improvement of harbors on Mexico's Pacific coast.

It was authoritatively learned the same companies approached the Mexican government a month before the outbreak of hostilities in China last year. The deal was not completed.

The pipelines would cross the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, with Salina Cruz as the probable point of loading. The oil would have to be piped about 150 miles downgrade.

Mexico City (AP)—A domestic bond issue to help pay for the $400,000,000 expropriated United States and British oil properties was proposed today by Finance Minister Eduardo Suarez.

Governors of 24 states at a conference at which Suarez made the proposal pledged financial aid for the same purpose. They promised a contribution of 5 per cent of their yearly state budgets to wipe out the petroleum "debt."

Advices from Krems, lower Austria, told of the arrest of Count Paul Esterhazy, a member of one of the oldest Austro-Hungarian families. He was accused of billeting German troops in a cold, damp cellar of his castle while many of the rooms were vacant.

Alberta House In Debate on Warrant For News Reporter

D. C. Brown Free in Edmonton While M.P.P.'s Discuss Accusation

EDMONTON (CP)—With the warrant for his committal to the custody of the sergeant-at-arms still unsigned, Don C. Brown of the Edmonton Journal was still free today.

The Alberta Legislature Thursday night approved a report of its legislative committee finding Brown guilty of a breach of the priviliges of the House by writing two paragraphs against which Dr. J. L. Robinson, Social Credit member for Medicine Hat, complained. The report recommended Brown be placed in custody of the sergeant-at-arms, to be turned over to the warden of the Lethbridge jail during the pleasure of the Assembly.

With the warrant still not signed by Speaker Peter Dawson, Brown spent the night at his home. Whether the warrant would be signed later today was not definite.

In the Legislature this afternoon, Gerald O'Connor, Liberal, Edmonton, was scheduled to move that Brown be released at the conclusion of today's sitting of the House, probably about 6 o'clock.

PARAGRAPHS QUOTED

Thursday afternoon's session of the Legislature was adjourned to permit the privileges committee under H. J. Ash, Social Credit, Olds, to consider the complaint of Dr. Robinson against Mr. Brown. Dr. Robinson, claiming professional injury, complained the following two paragraphs from a column "Under the Dome" misrepresented his stand.

"Red Deer's Mr. Hooke made a gallant effort Wednesday to have chiropractors included, specifically, in the provisions for

Spanish Insurgents Occupy Bujaraloz in Mediterranean Drive

With the Insurgents in Northeastern Spain (AP)—Bujaraloz, government stronghold on the highway to Lerida, Barcelona and the Mediterranean, fell to advancing insurgent forces today without a struggle.

Government troops abandoned Bujaraloz without giving battle.

BLUM CABINET LIMITS BILLS

French Ministry Averts New Crisis, But Defence Problem Remains

PARIS (AP) — The cabinet, only 12 days in office, averted a fresh ministerial crisis today by approving Premier Leon Blum's proposal to seek ratification by the Chamber of Deputies of only one of his financial bills.

The measure provides for the advancement of 5,000,000,000 francs ($160,000,000) from the Bank of France to the treasury to meet immediate bills. The measure already had received Senate approval, with some amendments from the form previously passed by the chamber.

The cabinet decision gave the government a way out of its immediate financial difficulties, but provided no solution of where to get money for extensive national defence needs.

Increasing strikes were among the immediate problems of the government. Employees occupying five Citroen plans in the Paris region refused to permit office staffs to enter the plants today.

Francoists Billed For Sunken Ship

LONDON (CP-Havas) — The British government has advised General Franco it holds the insurgents responsible for loss of the 887-ton British freighter Endymion, sunk in the Mediterranean by a submarine January 31, with a loss of 60 lives, it was officially announced today.

Man States He Saw Levine Boy

North Carolinan Says Missing New York Lad Spoke to Him

HIGH POINT, N.C. (AP)—June H. Johnson, automobile salesman, today identified a photograph of young Peter David Levine, missing from his home in New Rochelle, N.Y., since February 24 and believed kidnapped, as that of a boy who solicited a ride with him here last Tuesday night.

"I would swear that is the same boy," Johnson told Detective Sergt. J. W. McMahon this morning.

McMahon said the information had been turned over to officers of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP)—Two north Pelham youths were indicted today for blackmail growing out of a futile effort to collect the $30,000 ransom for kidnapped Peter Levine.

They were Edward J. Penn, 18, and Werner F. Luck, 23.

British Labor Is For League Move

Leaders Attack Chamberlain in His Foreign Policy

LONDON (AP)—Leaders of British Labor today assailed Prime Minister Chamberlain's declaration of foreign policy made in the House of Commons Thursday and called for an immediate meeting of the Assembly of the League of Nations to consider "the appeasement of Europe."

Men representing the Trades Union Congress and the Labor Party, including Labor members of Parliament, took this action at an emergency joint meeting.

"Special consideration by European members of the League particularly France, Great Britain and Russia, of steps to be taken to bring appeasement to central Europe and Spain" was demanded in a statement issued after the meeting.

The demand injected a new factor into Mr. Chamberlain's efforts to back his foreign policies by the arms program he already has warned the nation must cost more than the £1,500,000,000 ($7,500,000,000) originally intended for it.

Although the government has not disclosed the extent of the increase, reports in the lobbies of the House of Commons were that it would be 50 per cent, making a total of £2,250,000,000 ($11,250,000,000) for the five-year program, launched a year ago.

LONG RANGE PLAN FOR NO ADVERTISING

When Member of Commons Committee Says CBC Not Popular in Lower Ontario Chairman Brockington Declares Board's Chief Objective Is to Do Its Duty Fearlessly

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation was "not a popular institution in western Ontario," Paul Martin, Liberal, East Essex, told the House of Commons radio committee today. He said he was "violently opposed to the increase in the license fee to $2.50.

He suggested the corporation might better have recommended to the government the necessary revenues be derived from increased advertising.

While realizing the truth of what Mr. Martin had said of western Ontario, L. W. Brockington, chairman of the board of governors, said the corporation was "not concerned with popularity, but with doing our duties fearlessly."

Mr. Brockington was on the witness stand all forenoon.

It was the "'ultimate policy" of the corporation, Mr. Brockington said, to eliminate advertising. But in the meantime, it was necessary to carry advertising in order to get sufficient revenues for expansion of programs.

Every cent of revenue derived from the recent arrangement placing several leading United States commercial programs on the Canadian network was to be used to build up Canadian programs for Canadian listeners, he said.

A motion by Vincent Dupuis Liberal, LaPrairie - Napierville, Que., that the license fee for cars be reduced to $1, was not seconded, and was not accepted, but aroused considerable debate.

QUESTION OF PAYMENT

Members of the corporation's board of governors had no complaint, regarding their remuneration, said Mr. Brockington, and if it were anything more than nominal he doubted if it would be accepted.

TEACHERS' PAY TO BE REVISED

School Board Will Hold Special Meeting Monday to Discuss Schedule

For the second time in 19 years, when it was originally prepared, the Victoria city school teachers' salary schedule will go before the School Board next Monday night for revision.

Particular attention will be devoted to reduction of annual increments for teachers in both high and graded schools. It is also expected, however, that maximum and minimum scales will be affected.

Increments at present range from $75 a year in the graded schools to $120 a year in the high school. Under the existing system a teacher starting at the minimum salary can reach the maximum within eight or nine years.

It is understood the board's intention is to spread these increments over a greater length of time.

Teachers at present are working under approximately an 8 per cent cut in salaries. When the last revision of the salary schedule was made in 1930 there were cuts of 10 per cent and 6 per cent instituted in that and subsequent years.

In more recent years there was a restoration of 3 per cent and this year 5 per cent has been restored from March 1.

Dominoes Leave To Play in Vancouver

Club President Declares Basketball Team Goes "For Good of Sport"

"For the good of sport we have decided to play in Vancouver tonight," J. V. Johnson, president of the Dominoes Basketball Club, stated this morning. The Victoria team left on this afternoon's boat to resume the senior A men's provincial championship playoffs against Westerns. A number of fans accompanied the team.

Late yesterday, at a special meeting, the British Columbia Amateur Basketball Association declared the second game in the best of five series played here Wednesday night would stand as a draw.

"We are maintaining the position that we have won two games," Mr. Johnson said.

That stand was taken at a special meeting of Dominoes' directors this morning. It marked a change from the attitude last night when the local officials indicated they would not make the trip to Vancouver owing to the association ruling.

Reported refusal of the Dominoes to make the trip, conveyed to Vancouver last night, brought a sharp message from McTaggard Cowan, president of the B.C.A.B.A.

B.C. BODY FIRM

"The B.C.A.B.A. cannot and will not be dominated by a single club. We arrived at our decision fairly and officially and the Dominoes know what faces them if they refuse to appear tonight," he stated, prior to the announcement of the decision of the Dominies to make the trip.

Ken Walton, association secretary, last night stated the next two games of the series would be played in Vancouver, but that the fifth game, if necessary, had been switched to Victoria. If still a sixth game is necessary, Walton stated, Westerns are willing

Rowell Hearing Here Near End

Farris Denies B.C. Adopting Parochial Attitude; Has Special Position

The British Columbia government began its final argument before the Rowell commission this morning with a denial through its counsel, Senator J. W. deB. Farris, K.C., that it was approaching the problem of remaking Confederation with a provincial or parochial attitude.

Senator Farris was on his feet at the luncheon adjournment and it was expected the commission would finish its hearing in Victoria early this afternoon.

The commission, headed by Chief Justice Newton Rowell, will leave the city tonight for Edmonton, where it will begin hearing the Alberta case on Monday.

Senator Farris opened his final argument by explaining that he did not want the idea abroad that British Columbia was adopting a "beyond the mountains view."

"We are particularly anxious," he said, "that no diea should be created in other parts of Canada that this province is not anxious to give the fullest assistance in working out the Canadian problem."

When Senator Farris decreed a newspaper comment about him adopting a "court manner," Chief Justice Rowell said the commission was not concerned with newspaper comment.

Senator Farris said he did not mind the criticism of himself, personally, but did not want it to reflect on his clients, the government.

He stressed the fact that British Columbia was in an entirely different position before the commission than were other provinces.

PRESSING FOR YEARS

The government, he pointed out, had been pressing for years to have B.C.'s special claim heard. Premier Pattullo had asked for a special commission, but the general board had been named and had been instructed to hear B.C.'s special case. In that respect the hearing in B.C. differed from other provinces where merely the general revision of Confederation was under study.

Other provinces had been granted recognition of their claims, but British Columbia, fighting for 40 years, had not

Chinese Throw New Forces Into Battle

Successes Claimed As Mechanized Units Go Against Japanese

SHANGHAI (AP) — Chinese declared Friday that strong German-trained reinforcements, including mechanized units, were bulwarking their defences as a new counter-offensive stretched the battle along the Tientsin-Pukow railway for 100 miles.

They claimed a signal success in the counter-offensive in Shantung Province with occupation of Ningyang, 100 miles north of where Japanese have been trying to cross the Grand Canal.

Through a dense fog the advance guard made a surprise attack with Gen. Li Tsung-jen personally commanding.

Previously the Chinese had attacked Japanese units at the outskirts of Yenchow, slightly south, and in the neighborhood of battered Tsining, where the fighting has surged back and forth for three months.

"But found himself opposed by the one chiropractor in the House—Medicine Hat's Dr. Robinson."

Mr. Brown contended remarks made by Dr. Robinson could be so interpreted although when he said he was supporting the committee on workmen's compensation the third time he had added he would vote the amendment of A. J. Hooke, Social Credit, Red Deer, which was later withdrawn in favor of a general term including all licensed to practice the art of healing.

During the debate, eight divisions took place on the Speaker's ruling.

Gambling Houses In Vancouver Close

Powers Scored By the Fuehrer

KOENIGSBERG, Germany (AP)—Adolf Hitler tonight justified his annexation of Austria with the assertion that "the powers gave Austria a sham sovereignty because they wanted to keep Germany impotent."

SWEEPSTAKE TICKETS BRING HALF MILLION TO LUCKY CANADIANS

"There's quite a few boys around the house and they have me rattled. I haven't had time even to have a wash."

The aged Meehan wasn't very sure about $30 a week job at the mill now that big money is at hand.

"I think they'll chase me home when they learn the news," Mike said. "They don't need me any more."

Hugh Murray of Kenora sold Meehan his ticket and he will collect $5,000.

RECEIVES $32,300

FORT WILLIAM, Ont. (CP)—Tommy Kruzel, Fort William, was $32,300 richer today. He drew Workman, which came in third, in the Grand National Irish sweep.

Kruzel, Great Lakes sailor, sold one-half of his ticket to a New Yorker for $5,000, so he reckons on $25,000 for half the winnings, $5,000 for the price of the half ticket, and $2,500 for drawing a horse.

B.C. PEOPLE UNLUCKY

VANCOUVER (CP)—Nine British Columbians saw fortune slip through their fingers today as Battleship won the Grand National at Aintree. Their Irish Hospital Sweepstakes tickets were on other horses.

Two Vancouver Island residents—a man at Chemainus and a woman at Ladysmith, both unidentified—will receive $2,500 for their jointly held ticket on Didoric, which failed to place. They would have received $150,000 if Didoric had won.

John E. Slater, school teacher of New Westminster, held ticket ME52828 on Lazy Boots, but his horse also failed to place. He will receive $2,500.

DID NOT SELL

Another $2,300 will come to five Vancouver women who held a ticket on Blue Shirt, the favorite who failed to place. David Greig, husband of one of the women, said the ticket was numbered AE12939, and that the nom de plume "Blue Birds" has been used. He said an offer of $6,900 for a half share in the ticket had been refused.

Frank Lynds, Vancouver racehorse owner, declined to say what horse his ticket was on, but said the result of the race "left me out of the money." He will receive $2,300.

BIG U.S. TOTAL

NEW YORK (AP)—Fourteen United States citizens won $150,000 each today when Battleship carried their hopes of quick wealth first across the line of the Grand National at Aintree, Eng.

Eight other Americans each won $75,000 on Royal Danieli, second place winner of the 100th running of the steeplechase classic.

Workman, third place winner, brought fortunes of $50,000 each to eight Americans.

This boosted the total of United States winnings to $4,671,946.

Unlucky ticket holders left more than half as much with the hospital fund as the lucky ticket holders won.

Buyer, in all parts of the world, paid $13,730,010 for their chances to get rich quick.

Winners were paid a total of $8,057,600. That left a balance of $5,672,410.

DOG WINS $75,000

Tootsie, a dog of dubious breed, was worth $75,000 in cash today. In the animal's name, Aaron Lipschitz, 57-year-old painter, had taken out an Irish Sweepstakes ticket, and the ticket was drawn on Royal Danieli, the horse which ran second in the Grand National.

Some months ago Lipschitz found Tootsie cowering in a doorway during a rainstorm. He took her home and nursed her back to health.

Since, he has looked on her as an omen of good luck, which indeed she was.

When the ticket was drawn, he said, that "fate has repaid me because I was kind to that dog."

He asked his wife "What'll we do with the money, mama?" and she replied:

"What I'll do is wait until I see the money in cash. Then I'll get excited."

Chinese Association Secretary Reports End as Police Add Pressure

VANCOUVER (CP) — Foon Sein, secretary of the Chinese Benevolent Association, today said Vancouver's "thirteen" Chinese gambling houses would close their doors Saturday.

He said the action followed an "ultimatum" presented by Vancouver police to gaming house proprietors last Tuesday.

His announcement followed one by Chief Constable W. W. Foster that several of the east-end gaming houses would close shortly.

The police head said that constant pressure, prosecution with heavy fine and jail sentences, and a falling off in business would be responsible for the closures.

FOURTEEN ARRESTED

Last night city detectives arrested 14 men in a raid on an alleged gaming house in the downtown area. Thirteen of the men were charged as inmates of a gaming house, and Frank Kennedy was charged as keeper. All were released on bail.

Chief Foster said police records showed about 25 gaming houses in operation when he took office about three years ago. Today only 10 were in operation, and four of those only operated part of the time.

RADIO EXPANSION EXPLORED IN COMMONS INQUIRY

Mr. Brockington as chairman of the board of governors receives an honorarium of $1,500 a year, and members of the board $50 for each meeting attended, up to a maximum of $500 a year.

To H. J. Barber, Conservative, Fraser Valley, Mr. Brockington said the cost of collecting license fees was so small compared with the total that even if it were saved in its entirety the corporation would still have to borrow from the federal treasury to carry out its expansion program. The money borrowed was to be repaid over a period of 10 years, with interest at 3½ per cent. "We do not intend for one minute not to repay that money," Mr. Brockington declared.

"If the CBC were to go out of business tomorrow," said Mr. Brockington, "every private station in Canada would be delighted to become a part of united chains."

Returning to Mr. Dupuis' suggestion for a $1 fee on automobile radios, Mr. Brockington said he could not express any opinion or commit himself to any action. He would, however, agree to consult Hon. C. D. Howe, Transport Minister, on the subject.

SHORT WAVE

To questioners Mr. Brockington said the corporation had given much thought to the establishment of a high-power short-wave broadcasting station, but lack of financial resources was an obstacle.

A 50-kilowatt short-wave station would cost $350,000 to erect and up to $100,000 a year to maintain and operate. Such a station would add to the prestige of Canada.

To the committee chairman, A. L. Beaubien, Liberal, Provencher, Man., Mr. Brockington said there "must be a most unanimous approval of the United States sustaining programs" carried over the CBC chain. Also he had found 'very wide approval' of the commercial programs from the United States carried over the Canadian network.

He did not believe the United States programs carried by Canadian chains contributed anything to "Americanization" of Canadians.

OTTAWA (CP)—By a vote of nine to two the House of Commons Committee on Broadcasting Thursday rejected a motion that minutes of a certain meeting of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation board of governors be filed with the secretary.

Tempers flared when Hon. J. Earl Lawson, Conservative, South York, Ont., moved for production for private study by the committee members of minutes from which L. W. Brockington, chairman of the board, had read excerpts.

Hon. C. D. Howe, Transport Minister, declared that to make such records available to the committee would be unfair to an industry operating in a competitive field.

It was against the principles of British justice that a witness before a parliamentary committee should be permitted to read extracts from a document that was not open in its entirety to committee members, Mr. Lawson declared.

Mr. Brockington gave a comprehensive picture of the operations of the corporation since its inauguration, November 2, 1936.

With four of the best high-powered stations in the British Empire to be in operation early next year, 14 hours daily of the finest entertainment in the English tongue was promises by the chairman.

Describing the new 50-kilowatt stations recently opened in Quebec and Ontario, Mr. Brockington said two more would be in operation in the prairies and the Maritime Provinces by January 1, 1939, giving primary coverage to 84 per cent of the population.

When the present corporation took office November 2, 1936, said the chairman, the "good listening" areas in Canada contained only 48.8 per cent of the population. By January 1, 1939, this would be increased to 84 per cent and the policies of the corporation would assure that every listener in the Dominion would receive some Canadian broadcasts.

Three particular problems of the listeners existed in Yarmouth, N.S., Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and northern British Columbia. These problems would be solved this year.

FREEDOM OF SPEECH

Mr. Brockington declared free interchange of opinion was one of the safeguards of democracy and made a statement on the "attitude of the corporation on the vexed and topical question of freedom of speech."

"We believe," he said, "censorship is undesirable and perhaps impossible beyond the limits of decency and the minor and necessary prohibitions which we have fixed in our regulations. We have always, and shall continue always, to take care in the selection of network speakers to see they are competent to discuss public problems within recognized amenities.

"We deprecate any tendency on the part of owners of private stations to allow their own political or social opinions to affect broadcasts from the stations which they control. . . .

"We believe national problems and international problems should be discussed by Canadian citizens without restriction or fear.

"It may be that some opinions largely held have remained unvocal and unexpressed. This situation will be remedied. We are opposed to, and shall resist, any attempt to regiment opinion or to throttle freedom of utterance. We have not the slightest reason to believe the government is desirous of such regimentation. Rather we have every reason to believe the exact contrary."

BRITISH LABOR IS FOR LEAGUE MOVE

NEW FRONT

The mainifesto was interpreted in some quarters as evidence the political wing of the Labor movement—the Labor Party and the Parliamentary Labor Party—had rallied the trade unions to a united front.

This was believed likely to lead to demands for political as well as industrial guarantees by the government in return for the workers' co-operation in a rearmament speed-up.

"The government's continuance in office is a grave menace to the peace of Europe," said the statement.

It decried what it called Mr. Chamberlain's failure to disclose a "constructive policy" to prevent war and demanded abandonment of the "farcical" policy of non-intervention in the Spanish civil war.

DOMINOES LEAVE TO PLAY IN VANCOUVER

to play it in Victoria if the Dominoes so desire.

Disagreement over the outcome of Wednesday's game arose yesterday morning when an analysis was made of the official score sheet. Players' individual totals placed the score at a tie, 34 to 34, owing to a questioned basket credited to A. Beaton. The running score, supported by all reporters at the game, listed the final at 34 to 32 for the Dominoes.

Walter Hardwick, president of the Canadian Amateur Basketball Association, said last night a meeting of the B.C. body would be called some time today in Vancouver to consider the scoring mix-up "and several other differences in connection with the series." He declined to explain the "other differences."

RELIEF APPEAL

VANCOUVER (CP)—The city council today mailed letters to Vancouver members of the House of Commons warning that serious unemployment disorders "with accompanying loss of property and possibly life" might occur if federal assistance were not given Vancouver in dealing with its relief situation. The letters support a telegram sent to Hon. Norman Rogers, Labor Minister, asking Dominion aid.

French Papers Praise Britain

Press Voices Satisfaction at Chamberlain's Foreign Policy Statement

PARIS (CP-Havas) — French newspapers united today in expressing satisfaction at the foreign policy statement made in the British House of Commons Thursday by Prime Minister Chamberlain.

"Mr. Chamberlain opened broader perspectives to Franco-British collaboration than any of his predecessors, even former Foreign Secretary Eden, ever dared to sketch," said the independent newspaper Le Petit Parisien. "A British minister has never expressed with such conviction the fact that henceforth, in peace as in war, the fate of the two countries will be inevitably linked."

Chancellor Hitler "knows he may not violate Czechoslovakia as he did Austria," Pertinax said in the Catholic rightist newspaper L'Echo de Paris. "The London cabinet does not bind itself automatically, does not alienate its independence of judgment.

"A refusal of Czechoslovak President Benes to accept a reasonable compromise (with Germany) would certainly lead to the abstention of England.

"Otherwise, the solidarity of France and Great Britain, realized as to the Rhine in March and April, 1936 (when Hitler reoccupied the Rhineland), now extends beyond that limit."

FIRST OCCASION

"For the first time in a European affair," Genelève Tabouis said in L'Oeuvre, Radical-Socialist organ, "a British Prime Minister had put England and France on the same footing. For the first time a British Prime Minister has recognized publicly that the fate of his country is linked with that of Europe."

The press in Great Britain generally welcomed Prime Minister Chamberlain's declaration of policy made Thursday, although there was some criticism of lack of a more positive statement.

GERMAN VIEWS

BERLIN (CP-Havas) — Commenting on the outline of British foreign policy made in the House of Commons Thursday by Prime Minister Chamberlain, the Foreign Ministry organ, Politische und Diplomatische Korrespondenz, today praised Mr. Chamberlain for having "viewed the situation with detachment and calmness."

At the same time it regretted the Prime Minister had approached the German-Czechoslovakian problem only from the point of view of British liberty of action, without "considering the deep causes of the Sudeten (German) problem in Czechoslovakia.

"It may be noted that the British statesman obviously sought to avoid anything which might revive conflicts, and to make clear, within the framework of traditional British policy, his desire to clarify problems and thus pacify certain circles," the paper said.

Escaped Convicts Reported Sighted

CHICAGO (AP)—Ted Cole and Ralph Roe, missing Alcatraz prison convicts, were reported heading here today.

The Chicago City police teletype Thursday carried a message from the St. Louis, Mo., police stating the two had been seen in St. Louis at 10 a.m., Wednesday, and "were believed headed toward Chicago by freight train or hitchhiking."

The men vanished from the federal prison at San Francisco last December. After several days' search Warden James Johnston said he believed they had drowned in the choppy waters surrounding "the Rock."

More Defences Urged For B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia coastline is not adequately defended, George M. Murray, Liberal member of the British Columbia Legislature for Lillooet, told a junior board of trade meeting here Thursday.

"There are not adequate defences to protect the coast of British Columbia. Our hundreds of miles of coastline are vulnerable to a blockade by a hostile power," he said.

Two Suicides In Japanese Group

TOKIO (AP)—Two more members of the "Let's Die Society," both women, died of self-administered poison Friday. The president, Chuji Egawa, died a natural death last Sunday, and two members killed themselves the same day.

Miyo Emai, 22, and Tayeko Miwa, 26, left letters saying they hoped to achieve their goal of religious tolerance in the next world.

The league was organized to "reform" the Nichiren Buddhist sect by acts of self-sacrifice, and in 1933 had 28 members. In 1937 five members were arrested when they attempted hara-kiri in front of government buildings.

ONTARIO INQUIRY

TORONTO (CP)—A general investigation by a select Ontario legislative committee of power purchases from companies since 1926 appeared assured today when the Legislature deferred action on a motion for investigation of 137 contracts to redraft the motion covering all contracts since 1926.

Havens for Europe's Refugees Proposed

U.S. Urges Both Sides of Atlantic Receive German-Austria and Other Victims

WARM SPRINGS, Ga. (AP)—President Roosevelt said here today the United States proposal to give asylum to political refugees from Germany and Austria also applied to oppressed minorities in Russia, Spain and Italy, and any other country abroad.

WASHINGTON (CP) — Secretary of State Cordell Hull today awaited replies to telegrams he sent Thursday to nine European governments and all American republics asking them to co-operate in setting up a special committee to arrange havens for political refugees from Austria and Germany.

He suggested the emergency removals, to avert widespread human suffering, be financed by private organizations within the respective countries.

The European governments to which Mr. Hull's telegrams were addressed were Great Britain, France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Switzerland and Italy.

ROME (AP)—Fascist circles disclosed today a plan for distribution throughout Italy of some of the Germanic people in south Tyrol is being studied by Italian authorities as a sequel to Germany's annexation of Austria.

No compulsory dispersion is contemplated, but one proposal under consideration was said to call for preference to Germanic families in the settlement of farmers on reclamation projects throughout Italy.

Calm in India Held Deceptive

TORONTO—The army in India is loyal to Great Britain, the Empire Club of Canada was told at a luncheon in the Royal York by Dr. Anup Singh.

Dr. Singh pointed out Great Britain will not be able to get wholehearted co-operation of the people of India unless she is prepared to grant dominion status. "India needs England's protection," he added.

"The constitution in its present form is not acceptable to the Nationalist party," stated Dr. Singh.

He contended that too much power was reserved in the hands of the viceroy.

Matters of foreign affairs, defence, finance, civil service and the railways are outside the practical jurisdiction of the elected assembly, he contended.

The Nationalist party feel the British government is giving too much representation to the princes of India, he said.

Dr. Singh declared the calm in India is deceptive. "It is charged with explosive possibilities."

"The redeeming feature in the picture is the presence of Gandhi and his influence upon the people who are committed to peaceful methods.

"It would be wise," Dr. Singh said, "for Great Britain to negotiate with Gandhi, rather than wait and perhaps deal with someone more belligerent," he said.

Quebec Annulments Painted As Travesty

Marriage and Divorce Issues Aired in Senate

OTTAWA — Dozens of marriages have been broken up in Montreal "on no other pretext except religious grounds," Senator James Murdock (Liberal, Ottawa) charged in the Senate. Marriage and divorce is a matter for the Dominion alone, he asserted, when the Senate voted 40-29 for second reading of the bill increasing statutory grounds for divorce in Canada.

A special committee of 15 will study the bill.

"Annulments are granted by the dozen and marriage dissolved on mere pretext in Montreal," he declared. "People are entitled to hold their religious convictions without being subjected to the exaggerated view of another's religious conviction. Unless we are to look forward to a repetition of religious crucifixion such as we have seen in other parts of the world, it is time that a reasonable understanding was reached."

TRAVESTY OF JUSTICE

Marriages should not be dissolved simply because one party held a different religious viewpoint to the other, and the marriage was performed by a Protestant clergyman, he said. It was a travesty on justice in Canada, he asserted.

"If the province has the right to say who can marry and who cannot, what can the Parliament of Canada say with respect to marriage?" demanded Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader. The question had been puzzling him, he admitted.

"Annulment of marriages in Quebec is a provincial matter," asserted Senator J. H. Rainville (Conservative Montreal).

"The Federal Parliament has jurisdiction over marriages and divorces," retorted Senator Murdock. "Do you call that a provincial affair?"

Senator Ballantyne (Conservative, Montreal) said the Privy Council had held Quebec's mixed-marriage annulments "null and void because they were based on neither fact nor law."

"I can't overlook the great hardships and injustice that befalls people by these annulments," he added.

Senator K. D. Smith (Conservative, Wentworth) favored increasing divorce grounds, adding there was little danger of "loosening of divorces" as in the United States. Senator James Donnelly (Conservative, Bruce), however, feared passage of the bill would bring about "an alarming increase" in Canada's divorces.

WILL BREAK UP FAMILIES

The family constitutes the "soul of the nation," and this measure would tend to break up more families, warned Senator Charles Bourgeois (Conservative, Shawinigan). "We should not hurt the children just to free the parents," he said. "It would be a sad day for the Empire if such a course were followed and the sanctity of the homes destroyed."

"I am inclined to believe this bill will do violence to the conscience of the majority of people in this country," disapproved Senator C. P. Beaubien (Conservative, Montreal).

Senator C. E. Tanner (Conservative, Halifax) said Nova Scotia for years had granted divorces for adultery, cruelty, impotency and other grounds. "But there has not been a great number of divorces in Nova Scotia," he added.

Three-quarters of divorce applications to Parliament are from the wife, said General A. D. McRae (Conservative, Vancouver). "In such cases I think we all agree that the sanctity of the home is a thing of the past," he commented. "Incurable insanity should be a ground for divorce as a matter of justice either to husband or wife, as the case may be. I would also add life imprisonment as a cause."

SEEK HAVEN IN U.S.

Senator R. B. Horner (Conservative, Saskatchewan North) said:

"I would say there are 1,000,000 Canadians living in the United States who are there simply because they could get their freedom by divorce."

Women favor the proposed measure, according to Senator Cairine Wilson (Liberal, Rockliffe).

"For 300 years desertion has been a ground for divorce in Scotland, and there has not been any appreciable increase in divorces in that country as a result," she noted.

Senator Ballantyne mentioned "mixed marriage" annulments.

"There is a considerable feeling that where marriage takes place between people of different religious persuasion before a Protestant clergyman that no civil court in Quebec has a right to annul it," he commented. "When a marriage is solemnized according to civil law, how can a judge of the superior court in Montreal annul it?"

SACRAMENT IN ALL PROVINCES

"In Quebec marriage is a sacrament," put in Senator Beaubien.

"It is in other provinces," retorted Senator William Duff (Liberal, Antigonish-Guysboro). "It is in my church."

"I am not denying that," went on Senator Beaubien, "but I am building up the point; in Quebec marriage is a sacrament. That being so, the civil code of Quebec says marriage can only be valid if performed in accordance with the religious laws of the province."

"Is there not one law for a Catholic and one for a Protestant?" demanded Senator Murdock.

"No," replied Mr. Beaubien.

SAANICH MAN FOUND GUILTY

F. G. Smith Remanded On Third Bicycle Charge; Four More to Be Heard

Frederick George Smith was found guilty of retaining possession of two bicycle wheels belonging to Gordon Bell, well knowing them to be stolen, by Magistrate Henry Hall in Saanich Police Court yesterday afternoon. He was remanded for sentence.

He was granted a remand until next Thursday on a further charge of retaining possession of a stolen bicycle belonging to Jack Humphries to allow him to call as a witness, Frederick Lanchick, from whom he claimed to have bought the machine.

Smith, already convicted a week ago on a similar count, still has four charges of retaining stolen bicycles and parts to be heard against him.

Before a courtroom crowded to the back wall mostly by young people, 13 youths paraded to the witness stand yesterday afternoon to give evidence on Smith's behalf. Each said he had had dealings with the elderly man, had never known him to buy stolen property, and had found him honest in his business.

Most of their stories were the same. They had sold old frames or wheels "to get enough to go to a show with." One boy said he had sold a frame to Smith for a dime. Another elaborated: "He gave me good advice about not stealing" and another: "He ran a sort of free cafe to feed us boys when we were hungry."

YOUTH EJECTED

There was a moment of excitement when Smith was uncertain which of two brothers to call as a witness.

A tall rangy youth with stooped shoulders walked forward from the public seats and harangued the court in a loud voice on the subject of the witness's identity. Magistrate Henry Hall told him to be silent. He went on talking. The Magistrate ordered him removed from the courtroom. He was led quietly to the door, then turned and battled with the Saanich and city officers who were escorting him out. He was picked from his feet and placed in the corridor.

In his defence Smith called Aubrey Andrews, who testified he had been at Smith's house one evening two months ago when a young man had brought the allegedly stolen wheels. The youth had given his name as Smith, and had said the frame of the machine had been badly damaged but the wheels untouched. The young man said he needed the money to pay his water bill. The elder Smith gave him $3 for them.

Questioned by C. H. Tait, prosecutor, on the erasure of the serial numbers of some of the bicycles found by police at Smith's home, the accused said the scratches had been made by "both the city police and ex-Chief Rankin and ex-Sergeant Cummings scraping around looking at numbers for the last three or four years." He added: "Ex-Chief Rankin knew ten years ago I had all these frames and 100 more besides."

Smith also told Mr. Tait he had never thought it necessary to report his purchases of bicycles and parts to the police.

Magistrate Hall in his judgment said the fact the two wheels were undamaged while the vendor who used the rather obvious alias of J. Smith, claimed the frame was wrecked would naturally have made the defendant suspicious. The stories of the youths called to the witness stand had done nothing to dispel the feeling that Smith was nothing but a common receiver.

D. W. STRACHAN IS CANDIDATE

Former Liberal Member of House to Contest Dewdney By-election

MISSION, B.C. (CP)—Hon. George S. Pearson, Minister of Labor, told a Liberal nominating convention yesterday that conditions were better in British Columbia today than in most other countries.

D. W. STRACHAN

The minster spoke after David W. Strachan, former member of the Legislature, had been chosen to carry the Liberal banner in the forthcoming Dewdney by-election necessitated by the death of Dr. Frank Patterson, Conservatives leader.

Mr. Pearson urged delegates to give their wholehearted support to Mr. Strachan. Democracy, he said, was being challenged from without and within by those small dominating forces who wish to add to the power of selfish interests.

The Liberal party, Mr. Pearson said, had faced a most difficult task in restoring the confidence of the people and stabilizing the financial situation. The country would never have prosperity unless it had stable government, he declared.

Mr. Strachan was selected as Liberal candidate on the first ballot from among three other nominees—John McIvor of Hammond, Reeve Solomen Mussallem of Port Haney and James Conley of Hope.

Mr. Strachan sat in the Legislature from 1933 to 1937, being defeated by Dr. Patterson at the general election last June 1.

SETTLERS' AID BILL IS PASSED

OTTAWA (CP)—Third reading was given by the Senate Thursday to the House of Commons measure which continues to 1940 the dollar-for-dollar bonus to soldier settlers who have so far been unable to participate in the scheme.

The plan was inaugurated in 1933, when the government undertook to credit soldier settlers with $2 for every $1 paid by them on various arrears on their farm payments.

The bill also reduces from 7 to 5 per cent the interest charged on insurance and tax payments made on behalf of settlers by the government.

The Senate also began the second reading debate on the Commons bill amending the War Veterans' Allowance Act. Senator J. H. King, Liberal, British Columbia, piloting the bill in the Upper House, explained the measure was aimed to widen the class of veterans entitled to the allowance of $20 a month for single men and $40 for married men.

B.C. Can Do It Better

PRIME MINISTER PATTULLO DID well to combat before the Rowell Commission yesterday the suggestion that tourist and trade extension should be functions solely of the federal government. Chief Justice Rowell feared overlapping, with possibly nine provincial authorities in fields which have been under the Dominion trade and tourist departments.

Because all parts of the country are not alike in their appeal, decentralization is essential for effective tourist trade promotion. A federal department cannot discriminate between provinces, in some of which tourist trade is not as important as it is in British Columbia's economy. We here concentrate our advertising in places where we can make it count, such as in the Pacific Coast states. Federal advertising, however, must necessarily be less specific in its aims. Its appeal must be more on the general "Come-to-Canada" lines. We here are out to bring the tourists particularly to British Columbia. Efforts towards this end can best be directed by the provincial authority. In United States the states handle their own campaigns. Maine, for instance, conducts its own campaigns in territories it finds productive. So do Vermont, the resort areas of the Virginias, and those bitterest of winter tourist rivals, California and Florida, between which no federal authority could ever hope to be accepted as impartial.

Similar reasons make impracticable standardization of trade extension efforts under a supposedly neutral federal department. We in British Columbia have definite market objectives for our particular products. On these a federal department could not be expected to concentrate for our sole benefit. Moreover, our products to a certain extent compete with those from other parts of Canada. How could a federal department hold the balance to the satisfaction of competing provinces under it?

Provincial autonomy in tourist and trade extension, along the lines in which British Columbia through Mr. Pattullo's foresight has taken the lead, is sound economy. It is more likely to get results, as has been abundantly proved already.

That Arena

IF THERE ARE ANY OPPONENTS TO the construction of a general service arena in this city they must be few and far between. We call it a "general service arena" for the want of a better term. We mean an auditorium with an ice hockey rink, facilities for basketball, and anything else for which accommodation, within reason, can be provided under one roof.

There are so many arguments in favor of the proposal, arguments with which the general public by this time is thoroughly familiar, that it is hardly necessary to enumerate them here. There may be a few if's and but's about the proposal. In the main, however, the great majority of the citizens of this community—we mean the three neighboring municipalities as well—are agreed on the matter.

Victoria's Gyro Club launched the movement early last year. It always seems able to generate enthusiasm when it is most needed. The school children now are assisting in the circulation of a monster petition championing the scheme. Businessmen are showing a lively interest. All this is to the good. Surely the capital city of British Columbia does not intend to try to do without this urgently-needed "commodity" any longer.

Our "Shirtists"

OUR VERY OWN FASCISTS APPARently are having their troubles. We have been told that there are at least eight Fascist or anti-Communist groups in British Columbia alone, but a spokesman for one of the leading organizations—with members in Vancouver and Victoria—does not quite like the idea of blindly supporting the Quebec Blueshirts because they are anti-Semitic.

It is reported that "two groups in Vancouver and one in Victoria are now closely connected with the Canadian Union of Fascists, with headquarters in Toronto." Naturally, as Attorney-General Wismer points out, any political group may organize to its heart's content so long as it does not advocate the overthrow of constitutional government by force.

One thing about British Columbia's "shirters" worth noting, however, is that they do not look upon Hitler or Mussolini as perfect models of the "shirtist" faith. Nor are they so enthusiastic about their imported political ideas as to expect the birth of a totalitarian state overnight.

All this is comforting. But the shirtmakers must be finding it rather difficult to bring out new designs or original colors for these young men of Canada who have been bitten by the dictator bug. Perhaps the clearing house of the Japan-Berlin-Rome business can offer suggestions that will satisfy their vanity—or serve as some sort of reminder that, after all, the only youth movement in Canada worth belonging to is that intended for Canada's progress.

The Women Speak

THE BRIEF SUBMITTED TO THE Rowell Royal Commission by the Provincial Council of Women is a model of conciseness, commonsense and constructiveness.

British Columbia may also be proud of the fact that the suggestions so competently elucidated by the Council's representative—Mrs. F. J. Rolston of Vancouver—are the first to be presented to Chief Justice Rowell and his colleagues by the womenfolk of Canada. It may be true that their brief in some respects is similar in effect to other submissions. It has a special appeal, however, in its brevity and clarity of language.

The Provincial Council's document also is another reminder of the increasingly important role the women of this province in particular and the Dominion generally are now playing in the direct and indirect conduct of public affairs.

Mr. Eden Wins

FOUR BRITISH PARLIAMENTARY CONstituencies recently were selected for a test vote—known generally as a straw vote—on this question: "Do you approve of Anthony Eden's stand for good faith in international affairs, and will you support his demand for the reestablishment of peace and security through the League of Nations?"

The result:
For Mr. Eden's stand: 45,227
Against: 3,002

The Council of Action for Peace and Reconstruction—founded in 1935 by Mr. Lloyd George and Viscount Snowden—conducted the test in four constituencies which gave the present government a majority totaling 27,000 out of a combined vote of 200,000 in the last general election. London, Manchester, Cambridge, and Bradford were the cities selected.

Straw votes in Great Britain are not yet entitled to be called a national pastime; but the one just taken is more than ordinarily interesting at this time.

Japanese Salmon

PROMINENCE IS BEING GIVEN IN SEVeral widely-circulating newspapers in Great Britain to the amount of Japanese canned salmon bought each year by United Kingdom housewives. The annual importation of the commodity in question is given as 30,000,000 cans, or two cans for every three people, making Britain Japan's best customer in the canned-salmon business. This is what the Daily Mirror says about it:

Recently the price has been going up. So Tokio sends a trade ambassador who has arrived in England to see what we are going to do about bringing it down.

Now this salmon-canning trade throws an interesting light on Japan's little ways.

Comparatively few salmon find their way into Japanese rivers. They prefer the other side of the ocean.

Therefore, the little yellow people argue, if salmon won't come to us, we must go to them. So year by year they set out for the Arctic waters of U.S.-owned Alaska and the Pacific Coast of British Columbia.

Arrived, they lay their nets just outside the three-mile limit, catch as many as they are able of the fish bound for the Canadian and American rivers, take them home in "factory" ships, tin them, and then—

Sell them in Britain, Canada and America in opposition to Canadian and American canners.

More plainly put—they pinch the fish and then sell them to the people they have robbed. Nice work if you can get it.

Well, taking a leaf from Japan's own book we offer an apology and at the same time set off a bomb by asking:

How long is this sort of "incident" going to be tolerated? And shouldn't Britain first ask where the salmon comes from before talking about price reductions?

The Daily Mirror alone has a circulation of more than 1,500,000 and is read by about five times that number. Its readers will learn from the foregoing how they can help their own kith and kin by demanding Canadian salmon every time they buy this commodity. They can tell it by the word "Canada" stamped on the can. The British consumer in the main, of course, takes price into consideration before anything else. A little extra advertising of Canadian salmon in Old Country newspapers just now, however, would seem to be assured of a good return.

Notes

Old-time photographs of the great teach us that men can be big shots without having their trousers pressed.

Tolstoy was right about passive resistance. The only argument a high-pressure salesman cannot meet is silence.

The upper and lower classes work for the government; the middle class works for General Motors, Chrysler and Ford.

Sane conservation does not mean miserliness. It means using the crop to benefit the living but saving the tree for the unborn.

Another good way to test your nerves is to try listening to one's favorite radio program while being polite to guests who prefer talking.

BRITISH CENSORSHIP UNDER WAY

From News-Week

Though no open official action will be taken, there will be a marked increase in censorship of British publications as a result of Italian and German demands. British method is to impose undercover but highly effective censorship. As in the suppression of the Simpson story, word is passed from high officials to newspaper proprietors and trusted editors, who see that the news doesn't come out. The powerful Newspaper Proprietors' Association, which controls distribution, can cripple any paper that doesn't follow instructions.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

CZECHOSLOVAKIA

IF SOMEBODY would invent a thermometer which could measure public anxiety, that instrument would register some amazing fluctuations these days. The gods, indeed, must laugh if they are watching the behavior of the average man when he reads the news from Europe.

Today, if Hitler has made a speech, he'll be sunk in despair and telling his wife to lay in a supply of canned goods while he digs up the back yard to plant potatoes.

Tomorrow, if some newspaper report says that the tension is easier, he'll tell his wife not to bother about the canned goods and he'll leave his shovel in the basement. But the day after tomorrow, if the French government has fallen again, he'll talk around the family table about buying a gas mask and selling his government bonds.

In his present state the least ray of hope will revive him. A statement by Mr. Chamberlain will suddenly make him decide to buy a new car, a roar from Goering will cause him to stop in the middle of buying a pair of shoes. Why, Mr. Pudbury was all set to buy a car and had kept five rival salesmen in a lather for weeks until Hitler took Austria. Mr. Pudbury didn't care about Austria in the least, but when Austria fell he didn't feel safe in buying a car. Five salesmen wish now Hitler had stayed out of Austria.

And I know young Mrs. Boggs down the road hesitated for weeks about a new spring hat, and finally decided to buy it when she was sure Britain would not guarantee the boundaries of Czechoslovakia. When young Mr. Boggs looked at the hat he said he almost wished Britain had gone to war for Czechoslovakia.

So we fluctuate up and down, thinking that things are better one day, worse the next; and actually things are going their appointed course without variation underneath, to an appointed end. The surface ripples are what we watch, not the current below. Perhaps it is just as well. It keeps us happier. And Mrs. Boggs has got a new hat out of it

FUNDAMENTAL RIGHTS

THE ROWELL COMMISSION gave the government of British Columbia the opportunity this week to favor an insertion of a clause in the Canadian constitution to safeguard the fundamental rights of Canadians, just as the United States guarantees the freedom of Americans. The provincial government avoided answering the question. Either it didn't understand, or it didn't want to commit itself. One hopes it didn't understand.

The question was simple enough for anybody to understand, and it is inconceivable that any government, whether Conservative or Liberal, could object to the idea of preventing such outrages as the Quebec Padlock Law. Some reassurance from the provincial government on this point is in order.

Meanwhile a cultured French-Canadian came to me and said I was unduly alarmed about the Fascism of Quebec. "We come here to Victoria," said he, in that lush, intriguing accent of the St. Lawrence, "and we find Victoria in mist and rain. But everywhere ze daffo-dils are coming up out of ze ground and all the ozzer flowers are in bud. They do not stop growing because it rains and snows in Victoria. Do not worry about the fog in Quebec. Underneath, things grow as usual."

I trust this is so, but it looks like a rather backward spring.

STERNER STUFF

AFTER READING the Winnipeg Free Press reports of the Rowell Commission I am inclined to think that our British Columbia politics and our British Columbia journalism should be made of sterner stuff. Jim McGeachy's accounts in the Free Press of the provincial politicians whom he has seen in action here are really splendid. Some of them were reproduced on this page the other day, but there have been other richer ones. In fact, I think Mr. McGeachy had better not come around here again for a few years until the politicians have cooled off.

Of course, it's easy to slay politicians outside your own territory, because you can get out on the night train, but when you have to live with them afterwards it's not so comfortable. Still, I think our politicians should realize now that, compared with their prairie brethren, they are pampered darlings. They haven't felt a real baptism of fire yet. And now McGeachy has gone off to slay Premier Aberhart and Social Credit, and all is peace here again.

OLD IDEA

ALTOGETHER pathetic is the plea of British Columbia that the federal government abandon its income taxes and hand them over to the province to put it on easy street. The federal government wouldn't do anything of the kind even if times were good, but considering the expenses ahead of it, the federal government would probably prefer to take over the provincial income tax and call it quits.

What are the expenses ahead? The expenses ahead are for the defence of Canada. If the world continues in its present headlong plunge to ruin, if there is constant threat of war for some time to come, Canada will soon be spending at least $100,000,000 a year for armament and defence, four times what it spends now. It will be spending as much as the entire income tax. We shall be taxed more and more to keep up a huge military establishment because we shall have no other choice.

Make no mistake about it, we are in this general madness and cannot escape, and if the politicians were a little franker they would tell us that they have only one rabbit in the hat, and that is more and more taxes.

(Pardon me for mentioning this obvious fact again, but I hope to make people understand it in time. It is these obvious things that take longest to din into the public mind.)

ONE FEATURE COMMON TO ALL

From Brockville Recorder and Times

The third budget of the Aberhart government is described as "orthodox"—even to the exent of imposing additional taxation!

JOSEPH ROSE
OPTOMETRIST
1013 GOVERNMENT STREET

Confederation Clinic

J.B.M.'s editorial comment in Winnipeg Free Press on Rowell Commission sessions.

VICTORIA — Senator Farris, K.C., government counsel, was again at bat. The battling barrister was off the question of British Columbia's "special claims" and talking about matters less stimulating to coastal loyalties. But he was still the advocate convincing a jury, a unique phenomenon in the record of this investigation till now. How hard the senator works was evident when he dozed into a brief nap after finishing his evidence, a habit all new Canadian senators pick up rapidly.

British Columbia's opinion on unemployment relief and insurance, as the senator gave it, agrees with all other provincial opinions heard. These are jobs for the Dominion Government, this province thinks. British Columbia, it seems, runs into special troubles here. Coast industries like logging and mining need young men. Unemployed loggers and miners of 45 and older will never get back to work. Another local problem is that the balmy breezes, scenic wonders and beneficence of British Columbia make it a sanctuary for refugees from smitten Saskatchewan and Alberta. More than 80,000 have come here from the prairie since 1931. They bring enough money to live till they can qualify for relief. Premier Pattullo, a good-natured and genial man, says he is glad to see them, but would like extra help from Ottawa to buy their groceries.

Mr. Farris touched on one other subject. British Columbia has another special problem in the shape of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, a 348-mile line. The province has $80,000,000 invested in the line (originally a private enterprise); loses money on it though there is a small operating profit; has no desire to stay in the railway business, and wishes the C.N.R., alone or jointly with the Canadian Pacific, would take the P.G.E. off its hands. The commissioners listened patiently to the argument, wondering if their assignment included all the white elephants in the Dominion.

After Mr. Farris came Dr. W. A. Carrothers, chief of the government's brain trust. Dr. Carrothers, a sensible and lucid economist, talked about British Columbia's economic position. It was strange to hear him mention the province's "balance of trade." We had always put trade balances in a class with navies and national anthems as something only sovereign states could afford. But Dr. Carrothers justified the phrase. His point was that British Columbia buys much from Central Canada, at prices boosted by the tariff, and sells little there. The market for fish, apples and lumber is mainly outside Canada, where this province must compete without protection. High freight rates, the westward urge which sends transients here, and the monetary policy which kept Canada's dollar up in the early 1930's were other disabilities Dr. Carrothers discussed.

Dr. George M. Weir, Minister of Education, talked about health insurance. Dr. Weir and Dr. Carrothers, by the way, both came out to the Coast from Saskatoon and would thus qualify as prairie immigrants. Maybe British Columbia ought not to complain when it gets self-supporting citizens like these along with the fugitives from drought. Dr. Weir's point was that health insurance ought to be a provincial affair. British Columbia has had a health insurance bill on the carpet for some time, wants to get on with it, and dislikes the idea of waiting till the millennium for all nine provinces to agree on a Dominion scheme.

Mr. MacGregor Stewart, K.C., counsel for the Commission, began examination of Mr. Farris. This looked as if it might be a prickly business. Mr. Farris, eminent British Columbia Grit, at first did not seem to like the prospect of being put through hoops, especially by Mr. Stewart, eminent Nova Scotia Tory. He resumed his fierce expression while Mr. Stewart, all amiability, beamed and twinkled at him. Chief Justice Rowell, in the manner of a bystander pacifying two hostile wire-haired terriers, was assuring Mr. Farris at adjournment that Mr. Stewart was engaged on a purely scientific hunt for facts. This diplomacy wound up the day in a truce, but when the two K.C.'s meet at Philippi, it should be a good show.

Many Fields Of Work By I.O.D.E.

Standing Committees Reveal Scope; Officers Elected

Mrs. Kyrle C. Symons was elected regent by acclamation of the Municipal Chapter, I.O.D.E., at the final session of the annual meeting yesterday afternoon, succeeding Mrs. Wm. Ellis who retired from office after three years. Other officers elected were: First vice-regent, Mrs. P. E. Corby; second vice-regent, Mrs. R. Shanks; secretary, Mrs. Wallace Wilson; treasurer, Mrs. E. O. Weston; organizing secretary, Mrs. A. H. C. Phipps; educational secretary, Mrs. F. F. Beckett; Echoes secretary, Mrs. J. T. Jones; standard-bearer, Mrs. J. E. Flack.

Mrs. Symons was presented by Mrs. Ellis with a beautiful bouquet of spring flowers, accompanied by her good wishes for a happy and successful tenure of office.

SECRETARY'S REPORT

Mrs. C. Wallace Wilson presented a comprehensive report touching upon all the outstanding events of the year in which the chapter had taken part. It was with regret that the chapter had accepted the charter of the Edward Prince of Wales Chapter, which had disbanded. All appeals had been met and many letters of appreciation received Notable among the activities had been those in connection with secondary education and child welfare; the assistance given to the T.B. Pavilion in the Jubilee Hospital, Sunshine Camp, Solarium, Sea Cadets, Seamen's Institute, Travelers' Aid, work on behalf of the blind, the mission ship Columbia, assistance to the Peace River district, school libraries and Women's Workroom. Empire study had been taken up by a number of the chapters. Money had been raised by means of bridge parties, teas, fashion shows, bazaars, dances, rummage sale, luncheons, etc.

Mrs. A. H. C. Phipps, the organizing secretary, reported an increase in membership and regretted the disbanding of chapters, which had not found it feasible to carry on. Mrs. J. T. Jones read the Echoes' secretary report, and Mrs. J. W. Cashmore reported as standard bearer.

According to the report of the treasurer, Mrs. E. O. Weston, the year's receipts were $1,404.74, and the disbursements, $1,384.04. Primary chapter disbursements amounted to $6,369.40.

STANDING COMMITTEES

The excellent work accomplished by the standing committees was revealed in the reports presented by the following conveners: Child welfare, Mrs. George Mellor; work in India, Mrs. R. Shanks; Girl Guides, Mrs. Bob Shanks; Navy League, Mrs. William Ellis; distinguished visitors, Mrs. Harold Bray; Mrs. H. Catterall, immigration and Empire shopping committee; Mrs. C. W. Plumb, soldiers' graves and ex-service; Mrs. E. Eve, transportation; Mrs. P. Cunningham, endowment fund, and Miss M. T. Lee, house committee.

Mrs. Alan Campbell, for the League of Nations Committee, reviewed the work of the local branch of the League of Nations Society, referring to the loss sustained by the death of Dean Quainton. She also briefly reviewed world affairs in relation to the League, and quoted the prophetic speech made by Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden to the League Council two months ago.

Mrs. J. W. Hudson gave a most interesting and comprehensive report of the work of the Council of Social Agencies, showing its value as an agency for the reclamation and rehabilitation of underprivileged families.

PRAIZE FOR JUNIORS

Special tribute was paid to Mrs. P. E. Corby for her active interest in the juniors, as evidenced in her able leadership of the Royal Bride Chapter, and both Mrs. J. Hebden Gillespie and Mrs. W. C Nichol urged the formation of other children's or junior chapters, to provide material for primary chapters later on.

Mrs. Symons, the new regent, was appointed delegate to the annual meeting of Provincial Chapter.

Flowers and a gift were presented to Mrs J. W. Cashmore, retiring standard bearer, on behalf of the primary standard bearers.

Votes of thanks were extended to the press; to Mrs. Bertha Parsons, convener of the election committee; to the outgoing officers; to Miss Rhoda Clark for mimeographing the agenda, and to the Major John Gillespie Chapter, which had charge of the tea arrangements.

The tables were attractively decorated with green pottery bowls of daffodils and fern, and yellow candles in green holders. Presiding at the tables were Mrs. Peter Bell, regent of the hostess chapter; Mrs. Ronald Newell and Mrs. Lorne Green. During tea Mrs. Ellis presented the officers, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Weston, Mrs. Beckett, Mrs. Phipps, Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Cashmore, with charming gifts.

Red Gowns Taboo at Courts

Do Not Harmonize With Hangings In Buckingham Palace

LONDON—There is a great deal of disappointment among guests to the two presentation parties this season. For it has been decided that they shall wear ordinary evening dress instead of the regulation veil, train and feathers which add a touch of glamour to presentation gowns.

Meanwhile six designs approved by the Queen for presentation gowns have been placed on view at the Lord Chamberlain's office. These have been created by the Queen's dressmaker, and may be worn at the Courts.

Picture styles worn by French beauties 200 years ago have a particular appeal for the Queen, and modern versions are being made by the various Court dressmakers. Styles for the debutante, the young married woman and the older woman are shown.

For the debutante there is a crinoline gown with a Victorian off-the-shoulder neckline, in white silk tulle embroidered with diamante and silver and a soft white satin train. The gown has enormous floral decorations on the skirt, consisting of roses or circles of flowers. The waistline comes to a point in front.

For the older woman there is an elegant gown of gold brocade ornamented with diamante and crystal. The train is of flame-colored velvet lined with gold lame.

The young matron may choose a sheath-like gown of silver lame with a heart-shaped neckline and matching silver train.

Silver, gold and pastel shades are all favorites for Court gowns every season, the only unsuitable color being red, owing to the red carpets and many touches of red in the hangings of the Palace.

ROYAL NURSERIES

The new nursery suite at Windsor Castle is all ready for the little Princesses when the Court moves to the Castle for Easter. It is just above the royal suite and connected with it by a lift.

The suite is really a self-contained flat, with a bedroom for each of the Princesses, a schoolroom, playroom and bathroom. Pastel green is the predominating color, and there is a frieze of elephants, camels, horses and dogs all round the walls of the playroom.

Agnes MacPhail Has Birthday

OTTAWA (CP)—Miss Agnes Macphail, U.F.O.-Labor House member for Grey-Bruce, yesterday celebrated the 48th anniversary of her birthday. Flowers, letters and gift, felicitations from her parliamentary colleagues and friends, covered her desk.

The Sir Matthew Bailie Begbie Chapter, I.O.D.E., will hold a bridge party in Spencer's tea-room on Thursday afternoon next at 2.30. Tea guests will be welcomed at 4 and will participate in the prize. Tables may be reserved with Mrs. T. R. Myers, the convener, at G 4696, or Mrs. J. E Flack, G 2695.

Juniors as Guests of Seniors

Young Conservatives Heard By Women's Association

The Young Conservatives were the guests of the Women's Conservative Association at its meeting last night in the headquarters, Campbell Building, the juniors providing the speakers, Warwick Rawson, Bruce Mickleburgh and Miss Ruth Parr. Mrs. Sidney R. Bowden, the president, welcomed the young people.

The responsibilities of the young people as future citizens and potential holders of political office were touched upon by Mr. Rawson, and he urged them to take an interest in politics. British Columbia's strong claim to better terms was emphasized by Mr. Mickleburgh, in his address on Canada's internal problems, the need of unification in Canada and the natural and artificial barriers which make such unification a difficult problem to solve.

Mrs. J. T. Witty, Mrs. Adam and W. H. M. Haldane, who represented the Conservative Association, thanked the young speakers for their able presentation of their views.

Miss Catherin Denison, accompanied at the piano by Miss Molly Edgar, gave vocal solos, and a "singsong" was conducted by Mr. Rawson. The affair concluded with the serving of refreshments under the convenership of Mrs. Charles Smith.

Terrible Terry Strewing Roses

Giants Leader Staging Campaign Of Sweetness to Woo Back Friends

BATON ROUGE, Fla.—Colonel William Harold (the Terrible) Terry is going through a strange spring season in this land of sociable people, crawfish, gumbo and oil.

The Terrible man's aim is to become a member in perfect standing in the good fellowship club and he's working harder on his training program than the rawest rookie in his New York Giant camp. All day and part of the night, except for his masterminding activities and conferences with oil associates hereabouts, the colonel struggles to achieve his goal.

Baseball writers, whom he lambasted so unmercifully in his magazine piece last January, are awed. To one flabbergasted author, Terry is reported to have vowed to make good as a good guy if "I have to give every newsboy my private telephone number."

The colonel holds press conferences daily, answers all the questions he can, like the other 15 major league managers do. One reason for "Terrible" Terry's change of tempered pace lies behind his venture in the writing business. His magazine opus actually hurt him more than he realized. It is true, he made a lot of friends. But he made more enemies. Most of all, he made several new enemies for the National League at the very time the senior loop — shellacked in three world series games — needed friends the most.

Stockings with "zipp" fasteners up the back seam are being patented by an ingenious designer in Hollywood. A very fine slide of rubberized material is being perfected which gives the appearance of a rather thick seam, and the idea has two advantages — it makes stockings much easier to put on and saves ladders, and it also offers an opportunity of contrasting "zipps" to tone with a costume or accessories.

Weddings

COOLIDGE—STEVENS

VANCOUVER (CP)—Patricia Irene Stevens, daughter of Hon. and Mrs. H. H. Stevns, was married here last night to Clifton Hall Coolidge, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Coolidge of Winnipeg, at Canadian Memorial Chapel.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, reconstruction member of Parliament for Kootenay East.

Rev. G. Harrison Villett, assisted by the bride's brother, Rev. Francis H. Stevens, officiated.

The couple will live here on their return from their honeymoon.

Honored By Bar

LONDON — Miss Hannah M. Cross became first woman member of the General Council of the Bar recently. She is a niece of Lord Phillimore, and is one of the most successful British women barristers.

SLEEPLESSNESS due to INDIGESTION

If the gnawing, nagging discomforts of indigestion keep you awake night after night, consider the experience of Mrs. A. B., of Wallasey. That was her trouble, too. Tossing and turning in sleepless discomfort! Suffering the pains of a churning, acid-bitten stomach! Then she took Maclean Brand Stomach Powder. Almost at once she found she had conquered her trouble. The pains ceased. She could sleep soundly, peacefully. Maclean Brand Stomach Powder quickly counteracted the acid condition that was gnawing away at the stomach lining. It soothed the inflamed tissues, and helped the stomach to do its proper work of digestion.

This Maclean Brand Stomach Powder is used in many leading British hospitals. Try it. But be sure you get the genuine Maclean Brand Stomach Powder. Look for the signature, "Alex. C. Maclean," on both bottle and carton. 75c, either powder or tablets, at druggists. 115

You live very simply on a small income and you are having dinner guests who have a number of servants and do things on a much more elaborate scale—

(a) Try to imitate your friends' way of doing things?

(b) Keep to your own simplicity and don't apologize for it?

(c) Tell them that you are sorry you can't have dinner served as beautifully as it is done in their house?

2. No.
3. Yes, so as not to tire the patient.

To remove fat from soup, dip a piece of clean tissue paper into the hot soup. The fat floating on the top will then be absorbed. This is much quicker and easier than skimming.

Social Service Plan Suggested

One Income Tax Split Between Governments Proposed to Commission

Social services should be financed out of the income tax, all collected by the federal government and then allocated in shares between the provinces and Dominion.

This was the formula submitted to the Rowell Commission yesterday by George F. Davidson for the B.C. Mainland and Victoria branches of the Canadian Association of Social Workers.

This, he said, would relieve real property from any charges for social service, which include unemployment relief, mothers' allowances, old age pensions, blind pensions and the like.

The provinces, he suggested, should get their share of the income tax with no strings, and the Dominion could make further grants-in-aid for particular services.

Employment services should be handled nationally, because they would be linked with unemployment insurance, also a national matter.

Reciprocal arrangements between province for the care of transients, under pressure by the federal government if necessary, was suggested.

Final submission was that a National Housing Commission be set up to operate as a government-controlled mortgage company to promote housing in areas where the present Dominion Housing Act is not working satisfactorily. One of the conditions should be that municipalities grant tax concessions on the real estate and improvements made under the scheme.

TRADE BRANCH SCRUTINIZED

Need For Special Tourist and Trade Work in Province Defended

The Rowell Commission yesterday afternoon pursued its probe into possible overlapping and duplication of work by British Columbia government departments and those of the federal government.

F. C. Green, surveyor-general, Dr. J. F. Walker, deputy minister of mines, E. G. Rowebottom, deputy minister of trade and industry, and Neil G. Perry, director of the bureau of economics and statistics, were heard, but none saw any serious overlapping as their work is now being carried out.

Chief Justice Rowell questioned Mr. Rowebottom closely on the new Trade and Industry Department, which he thought might duplicate work of the Dominion Trade and Commerce Branch and Bureau of Statistics.

Mr. Rowebottom asserted that the Dominion's trade promotion was largely in foreign countries and in this his department cooperated with the federal trade commissioners. His other work, which was most important, was the development of new industries within the province and the promotion of interprovincial trade, neither of which was done by Ottawa.

The chief justice doubted the need for a provincial tourist bureau when the Canadian Travel Bureau was in the same work. Mr. Rowebottom quoted Leo C. Dolan, head of the travel bureau, as saying the provinces must handle sectional advertising.

"Just because Mr. Dolan holds that view does not mean it is right," replied the chief justice.

Mr. Rowebottom said the Dominion bureau devoted itself largely to advertising Canada as a whole, and did not play up any particular section.

"But I thought that using one feature as an attraction was an essential part of tourist advertising," said the chief justice. "The alternative might be to eliminate the Dominion bureau and let provincial bodies do tourist work, but at present I can't see why the Canadian bureau cannot do it for all provinces."

"I assure you it would never work out satisfactorily," replied Mr. Rowebottom.

Dr. Walker denied that there was any overlapping in the mines department. Federal engineers came out once a year to "take stock" of the mineral resources, but this information was used by the province.

Mr. Green said that on the topographical survey it had been necessary to resurvey ground already covered by the geological survey of Canada, due to the different requirements of the province.

He suggested a plan of joint operation by which topographical maps could be made available to the geological surveyors, working with the Royal Canadian Air Force to get air maps in advance of the field work of the provincial branch.

Nazi Propaganda In Alsace-Lorraine

PARIS (AP) — Joseph Paul-Boncour, foreign affairs minister, told the Chamber of Deputies foreign affairs committee Thursday that Nazi Germany was conducting a large propaganda campaign in Alsace-Lorraine.

He told committee members that despite Hitler's pledge that Nazis had no territorial demands against France, attempts constantly were being made by German agents to turn citizens of the Alsace-Lorraine region, which was German before the World War, against France.

OAK BAY MILL RATE IS SAME

Council Sets 25-mill Levy; Works Program Planned in Estimates

A tax rate of 25 mills on land and on 50 per cent of the assessed value of improvements — unchanged from last year — was struck by the Oak Bay Council yesterday afternoon.

The year's estimates are budgeted on the basis of a 90 per cent collection. Last year's actual receipts from taxes exceeded that percentage of the total levy.

Councillor Richard Angus, chairman of the finance committee, said the levy and collection for this year were estimated at a slightly higher figure than in 1937.

The year's estimates call for an increase in expenditures for roads, sidewalks and parks.

A prepared statement released at the council meeting listed proposed work as including extension of the Beach Drive footpath from the Uplands entrance to Rutland Road, deepening of Bowker Creek in connection with the flood prevention program shared in by Victoria and Saanich, and a comprehensive plan of road paving and sidewalk construction under the local improvement system.

SCHOOLS TAKE $96,030

Estimated expenditures for the year total $338,844, with $230,281 passing through the hands of the council, $96,030 going to the school board and $12,533 to the police commission.

Major items in the estimates are as follows: Road maintenance, $17,000; boulevards, $9,700; street lighting, $5,500; garbage collection, $10,000; sewers and surface drains, $13,300; parks, $4,800; hospital expenses, $7,200; library service, $5,000, and charity services other than relief work, $5,200.

Interest and sinking funds, chiefly on sewer and local improvement loans, will take $46,050 during the year. That figure does not include amounts chargeable to the school board and water department.

The prepared statement made no mention of the amount to be expended on the municipality's new fire department, which is to be in operation next month. Municipal officials explained this morning the sum allotted to the fire department was to cover purchases of minor equipment and clothing in addition to operating costs, and they believed it might give a wrong impression of the actual cost of the department.

The value of the mill in Oak Bay this year is $7,177, or $6,459 with a 90 per cent collection.

COLWOOD GOLF

Mrs. H. F. Crowe won the par play-off for the rose bowl yesterday at Colwood. In the par competition Mrs. H. F. Crowe was one down in the A class and Mrs. J. H. Richards and Mrs. Allan Morkill halved the B class honors, seven down.

Oak Bay Council Briefs

The Oak Bay Council yesterday afternoon set what is believed to be a record for the Greater Victoria area. It disposed of 18 by-laws in a space of less than a quarter of an hour. By-laws covering regulation of milk deliveries, a sewer easement, a sale of property, and sewer and paving local improvement projects on Satellite Street were finally passed. Six other local improvement by-laws, four formal ones covering the year's tax rate and the like, and three disposing of property were introduced and given second reading. It is estimated that in Esquimalt, where each by-law is read clause by clause, the work would have taken the best part of two hours. The Oak Bay Council has got the business of by-law passing down to the fine point of handling four and five separate laws in a single motion.

The council will write to T. J. Goodlake, for several years a councillor in Oak Bay, to wish him and his family happiness in England, whither they will move in a month's time. At yesterday's meeting Councillor Richard Angus and Reeve R. R. Taylor expressed their appreciation of Mr. Goodlake's services on the municipal zoning board and of his allowing the use of his office for finance committee meetings.

A letter of appreciation will be sent to the Oak Bay Friendly Help for its services to the municipality during the last year.

Consideration of tenders on a truck to be used by the municipal works department was referred to a meeting of the works committee to be held Monday.

The council will sit as a committee of the whole shortly to consider a letter from A. S. G. Musgrave, municipal engineer, suggesting a new road construction policy.

School zone signs will be erected on Newport Avenue on either side of St. Christopher's School, the council decided. The chief of police will be asked for a report on the advisability of prohibiting parking on Newport at the corner by the school.

A request from the municipal engineer for the transfer of water rate collections from his office to that of the collector was left to the engineer and the comptroller to settle.

Expenditure of $60 for extension of a sewer on Island Road, in the neighborhood of McNeill Avenue and Currie Road, was approved by the council on recommendation of the works committee.

The engineer will report to the council on the cost of installing sewage and water facilities on Hall Road, a blind street giving into Falkland Road near Beach Drive.

A letter from the Victoria City Council granting an easement for a drain across two corners of the Willows Exhibition Grounds, with permission for an open ditch in the northeast corner on a temporary basis, was received and the necessary easement by-law ordered prepared.

There is no street railway franchise in existence in Oak Bay, but the council will be glad to hear any submission by street car operators, councillors said in reply to a request for a hearing on franchise matters by the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America.

The council has no power to grant an application of the Vancouver Island Lifeboat Association for permission to build a boathouse on the bank at the end of Foul Bay Road, the road allowance for which runs down to the high-water mark, it was decided.

T. J. GOODLAKE TO LEAVE CITY

Well-known Businessman Will Reside With Family in England

Closing a business career of 25 years in Victoria, which has included many years in public life and a prolonged association with many semi-public organizations, T. J. "Cappy" Goodlake, real estate and insurance agent of Victoria, will leave here in the middle of July with his wife and family to take up residence in England.

A tribute to the work of Mr. Goodlake as a member of the Oak Bay Council and as a citizen generally was paid by the Oak Bay Council last night in extending best wishes to the family.

In leaving the city M. Goodlake will relinquish several positions which he holds here, and will turn over the affairs of Goodlake Limited to Coles, Howell & Company. Affairs of Goodlake Limited will be wound up this month-end.

For 10 and a half years Mr. Goodlake was a member of the Oak Bay Council, being elected first in 1923, and continuously from 1926, when he was returned in a by-election, to 1935. For 20 years he was secretary of the Rotary Club, of which he is now president. Between 1933 and 1936 he was also president of the Real Estate Board of Victoria.

Several secretaryships which Mr. Goodlake held have been and will be turned over to new hands. Major W. G. Cunningham has already taken over the duties as secretary of the Victoria Automobile Club while Major P. T. Stern will be the new secretary of the Victoria and Island Branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. Major Stern will take over the Goodlake offices at 640 Fort Street.

The position of secretary of the Greater Victoria Building Society and Capital City Building Society has passed to F. A. Willis.

Mr. Goodlake will be accompanied to England by his wife and one son, G. P. V. Goodlake. His elder son, T. H. S. Goodlake, will leave in June.

Pattullo Fights On Preferences

Steadily in Touch With Ottawa on British Trade, He Tells Commission

Premier Pattullo told the Rowell Commission yesterday that his government had been repeatedly in touch with Ottawa regarding the representations made by British Columbia producers in connection with any interference with the British preferences.

He was discussing the suggested overlapping between the province's new trade department and the Dominion department, and said that despite the existence of the Dominion branch hardly a day went by that he was not asked to intercede at Ottawa for some group or another in connection with trade or business matters.

Trade, he said, was a highly competitive field. The lumber trade extension plan fostered by the B.C. government had demonstrated clearly the value of provincial help. Assisted by a provincial vote of $50,000 a year, lumbermen had gone out and built up markets in England, Australia, South Africa and other countries to take the place of the United States market lost in 1932. Only recently, he said, the government had taken up the case of the local lumber and fruit men who feared their British preferences might be adversely affected in new trade arrangements between Canada, the United States and Britain.

Chinese said another flying column had crossed a lake west of the Tientsin-Pukow and was strangling the Japanese supply line.

GEN. YU'S PREDICTION

With the Chinese Red Army in North China (AP)—Gen. Yu Cheng-tsao, commander of central Hopei province Chinese Communist forces, had this to say of the final outcome in China's war with Japan:

"The farther inland the Japanese come the surer will become their ultimate failure in China."

As he spoke, 20,000 farmer militiamen passed in review before him, chanting anti-Japanese songs. Their flintlock rifles, spears and broadswords flashed in the north China sun.

"This is only one of the many people's armies we are organizing to harass the Japanese," Gen. Yu said proudly.

"Except for brief sallies, the Japanese are restricted to the railway lines. When they get away from them, we strike. With our guerilla tactics, we frequently surround them and wipe them out."

"We have a half-million farmer soldiers in training in this district alone," Gen. Yu said. "A quarter of a million boy spies, ranging from 8 to 18 years old, keep us informed of Japanese movements."

"Our ultimate aim is to train and arm all Chinese—aged 8 to 48," he added.

About 22,000 pottery vases made by Chimu Indians of Peru are in one famous collection at Trujillo.

until the interim subsidy was granted in 1935.

Senator Farris quoted the view of former Premier Bennett in 1936 that the special $750,000 granted to British Columbia did not bring this province up to a basis of equality with other provinces.

British Columbia's position, now, was to justify the $750,000, and if following Mr. Bennett's view, to argue for an even larger subsidy. This, he said, was the substance of the claim for better terms.

So far as the province's contribution to a "symposium on national affairs," he regarded the main brief prepared by Dr. W. A. Carrothers as being the best presented in any province as showing British Columbia's position in the economy of Canada.

Senator Farris then pursued an argument in which he disagreed with the assertion of Prof. J. A. Maxwell that an extra $100,000 a year payment allowed to B.C. in 1871 in return for a land grant had been a "subterfuge" to get the province into Confederation.

Prof. Maxwell's statement, he suspected, had been based on opposition charges that the government of the day was paying too much for relatively valueless land. Oppositions always made those kind of charges for political reasons, he suggested.

Senator Farris continued with an analysis of historical records to show that the $100,000 was, in fact, a fair payment for the lands, and not merely a sop to the province to bring subsidies up to a fair level. His intricate historical analysis brought up the names of Amor de Cosmos, Trutch, and other early B.C. leaders.

Victoria Daily Times

Leafs, Rangers And Hawks Win

Sports Mirror

IN the flood of queries, opinions and general information showered on the sports department yesterday over the reported decision by Westerns to protest the result of Wednesday night's basketball play-off game, one feature stood out like the lighthouse on Pandora Avenue.

No word of criticism, was directed at Bob Whyte, the official scorer.

The central figure in the dispute which arose over discrepancies in score totals, Bob worried over his possible error. He was ready to heap ashes on his head in pennance and looked around for someone to vilify him. There was no one prepared to take that action.

Wether the scores were right or wrong—and there appears definite evidence there was an error although it would not have given Westerns a legitimate tie—Bob Whyte's reputation for sportsmanship, integrity and reliability remained unassailed.

The whole question of the result was queried by the public generally without animosity. There was no suggestion, at least none reached this department, that Westerns were putting up a losers' "squawk."

The attitude to Bob Whyte, was a striking tribute to the position he holds in the hearts of not only Victoria but British Columbia basketball fans. All admitted the possibility of a mistake—but, and in face of robbery charges from Vancouver in another recent series—personal challenges were entirely lacking.

It should be gratifying to Bob to realize the trust he enjoys. For more years than the average fan remembers Bob has been known and liked in the active lists of soccer and basketball players. In all that time we can never remember any act of Bob's which might be questioned.

The very gravity with which he considers the scoring question of Wednesday night is indicative of his desire for absolute fairness.

Chuck Jones, of the Vancouver Province, who knows his basketball more than superficially, was checking scores on Wednesday.

He asked for the seat next to Bob on the press bench.

"It's not really necessary to make the check. Everybody knows Bob Whyte and nobody would harbor the slightest suspicion of bias, but this checking business is expected," he remarked. And Chuck didn't catch the slip-up. His score at the end of the game showed Dominoes 34, Westerns 32.

It is rumored in local rugby circles that Bert Buller, mentor of the J.B.A.A. fifteen, is trying to sell his boys the idea of playing box lacrosse this spring. The oarsmen should be good at the game. They can take the bumps, and after that rugged final with the Vancouver Rowing Club we are convinced they can dish it out, too.

Wally Stipe, rated one of the best scrum halves developed in Victoria, is seriously thinking of hanging up his togs for good after this season. The capital city will have a job getting a man to fill his berth in the McKechnie Cup team next season.

Paul Rowe, who was on a visit home recently, says he would risk immediate suspension if he attempted to play English rugby for any club during his time at the University of Oregon. American institutions are rather strict about such matters.

Bill Dale's performance in the Empire Games in Australia last month should convince Washington State University they have a real half-miler on their hands this season. So far, Dale has not had the chance to show his competitive stuff to the Cougars.

Beat Boston, Amerks and Canadiens Respectively in Playoffs

Leafs 1, Bruins 0.
Rangers 4, Americans 3.
Black Hawks 4, Canadiens 0.

By dealing doses of lightning in unexpected ways and from unexpected places, Toronto Maple Leafs may keep going to an upset triumph over Boston in National Hockey League finals.

Before the series, no one looked for the Leafs to match Bruins in typical "playoff" hockey — tight defensive stuff that brings a break only barely. Leafs were supposed to try to open up the play and count on the league's top scorers, Gordon Drillon and Syl Apps, to carry them through against the season's mightiest defensive system.

Yet as the best-of-five round began in Toronto last night, the home club checked the driving Bruins for more than 80 minutes. Then as the second overtime period started young George Parsons, just up from the minors, sprinted away from a Boston attack with Nick Metz. He took Nick's pass at the Boston blue line and waded in to beat Tiny Thompson with the goal that meant a 1 to 0 victory.

There was magic in the whispering, the fodder and the super-conditioning high-jinks that Manager Conny Smythe and Coach Dick Irvin served to the Leafs as they drilled for the series at Preston, Ont. Now Leafs can take a long lead by winning the second game at Toronto tomorrow and after that they'll have merely to snatch one in three at Boston to capture the series.

RANGERS BEAT AMERKS

The tight going in the N.H.L. title battle was in direct contrast to the open play in other rounds leading to Stanley Cup finals. Rangers downed Americans, 4 to 3, to square New York's subway series, and the Black Hawks amazed at Chicago by speeding to a 4 to 0 success over Montreal Canadiens, making up for a 6 to 4 loss in the opener. The third and deciding New York contest is set for Sunday, while Hawks and Canadiens declare a winner at Montreal Saturday.

Bruins showed few signs of their offensive power until the second overtime period began. At that point, with four Bruins up the ice, the way was left open for the deciding counter.

Parsons shook off Dit Clapper as he took Met's pass to drill the puck into the lower rigging from 10 feet away. It was a tremendous finish for the 13,415 fans, who had come hoping against hope Bruins wouldn't repeat the form they showed during the schedule in whipping Leafs five times out of six.

Rangers' win was tinged by a couple of more knocks from old man injury. Neil Colville came out with a wrenched ankle and a twisted knee and Manager Lester Patrick doubts if he'll be able to start Sunday. Babe Pratt aggravated the knee injury that kept him out of the opener, and Captain Art Coulter watched again from the sidelines.

SMITH STARS

Clint Smith starred individually, scoring two goals, including the winner. But old Johnny Sorrell of Amerks continued to highlight the series with two goals to add to the one which decided Tuesday's battle. Rangers led 3 to 0 halfway through the second on scores by Bryan Hextall, Smith and Alex Shibicky, but Tommy Anderson and Sorrell had narrowed the margin before half the third was over. After Smith scored again, Sorrell came through with a marker that left Rangers in a cold sweat until the final bell.

First period fireworks and two trick goals by Earl Seibert stood out at Chicago. The Hawks' defenceman banged both in the same way, shooting from behind the net and watching the rubber bounce in from a Canadian player's leg. That gave Hawks a 2 to 0 lead midway through the third, and though the Habitants flew all through the game they couldn't beat Mike Karakas, who scored his second shutout of the season.

Johnny Gottselig broke in to make the count 3 to 0, while Canadiens were trying to start a late scoring drive and with one second to play Paul Thompson sped in to finish the rout. Carl Voss assisted in both goals.

There was Berserk battling in the first chapter, when Joffre Desilets of Canadiens drew a major penalty for fighting with Johnny Gottselig, who got two minors. Paul Haynes of Canadiens and Jack Shill of Hawks were handed majors for fighting just as the period closed.

Bays to Meet Services Squad

Oarsmen Favored in Opening Bid For Cowichan Cup Tomorrow

Coach Bert Buller, who has brought his J.B.A.A. fifteen through to the city and provincial senior A rugby championship, will send his boys on their opening bid for the Cowichan Cup tomorrow against the United Services squad.

While the amalgamated Navy-Garrison players have a large following, on past performance, the call goes to the Bays to eliminate the Services from the running in tomorrow's game at Macdonald Park The match will start at 3.

After several weeks off with a wrenched shoulder, Cyril Doheney, elder member of the "Fighting Doheneys," will be back in uniform. The United Services with Teskey, 250-pound Garrison husky on the line-up, looks on the heavy side and should be just what the doctor order for the smart-working oarsmen.

United Services—Green, Sciban, Ross, Loveless, Hibbert, Butler, McDonald, Young, McKiever, Hatch, Applegarth, Polinsky, Ford, Woods and Teskey.

J.B.A.A. — Bray, Mair, Petticrew, Ruttan, F. Doheny, Simpson, Coller, Dalzel, Russelll, Smith, Bridge, Langdon, Halkett, C. Doheny, Ferguson and Stipe.

Owing to sickness and injuries, Nanaimo has defaulted its Cowichan Cup match with the Oak Bay Wanderers, scheduled for up-island Sunday.

Last week's postponed game between the Canadian Scottish Intermediates and University School will be played tomorrow at the Mount Tolmie grounds. Scottish players are asked to meet at the Armories at 2.

The line-up follows:

Bishop, Jones, Steadman, Hughes, Fraser, Williams, Martin, Coste, Michelin, Holland, Sorenson, McDonald, Garrison, Ngai and Clarkson. Spares, Mair, Saunders and Howard.

TWO FOOTBALL TILTS CARDED

First Division Squads Will Meet on Twin Bill at Athletic Park

First division Saturday soccer squads will resume their drive for second-half league honors tomorrow afternoon in a double-header at the Athletic Park.

Victoria West, their undefeated record still undisturbed, will engage Saanich Thistles in the first match of the afternoon at 2.15, with T. M. Robb handling the whistle. Esquimalt and Victoria City hook up in the second match which should get underway about 4. Scotty McKay will referee.

Teams follow:

Victoria City — W. Robbins, Moody, McConnell, C. Robbins, G. Robbins, Moore, Murdoch, Tregellis, McColl, Gornall, Youson, Cook, Barber, Cummings, Blakemore, Morton and Glancy. Players to be at field by 3.30.

Esquimalt—Chalmers, Stewart, Laird, Harris, Hay, Holt, Cooper, Sage, Smith, Bell, Tregellis, Stewart, Barnswell, Holmes, Payne, English and Rowell.

Victoria West—T. Restell, J. Okell, Bell, Sage, Barnes, Lorandini, C. Restell, R. Okell, G. Barnes, Robinson, Watt, Morgan, Brown, Sweeney and Paterson. Players are asked to come to the game prepared to leave for the Seattle trip right after.

Oak Bay Wins Hockey Shield

The Oak Bay High School has been named winners of the May Tully girls' grass hockey shield, emblematic of supremacy in High School girls' grass hockey. The winners had six points and North Saanich, runners-up, five. In the final game between North Saanich and Oak Bay the two teams drew, 1 to 1.

Bobbing Up

It's no accident that the camera caught Karl Leinert, internationally-noted daredevil upside down on his sled at the zenith of a thrilling 60-mile-an-hour somersault. He does it on purpose, on a reproduction of the famous Alpine Cresta bobsled run, to chill the spines of spectators at London's Coliseum.

Cup Finalists To Be Named Tomorrow

English Football Semis to Be Staged at Blackburn and Sheffield

LONDON—English Cup finalists will be decided tomorrow and the semi-final clashes at Blackburn and Sheffield will attract huge crowds.

Preston North End meet Aston Villa on Blackburn Rovers' ground, while Sheffield United's enclosure will be the venue for the Sunderland - Huddersfield Town battle.

Last year Sunderland won the Cup with a 3 to 1 victory over Preston.

The Villans have appeared in 13 semi-finals and won the trophy six times.

The other squads each have been successful once. Preston has reached the semi-final round seven times, Sunderland six and Huddersfield five.

Interest in Saturday's league battles centres on the doings of Arsenal and Wolverhampton Wanderers, First Division leaders. With a point advantage over Wolves, the Gunners play at West Bromwich. The runners-up are also away from home and will find Charlton Athletic a tough proposition.

SCOTTISH LEAGUE

GLASGOW—Midweek victories by Motherwell and Glasgow Rangers narrowed the margin between the joint holders of third place in the Scottish Football League and Celtic and Hearts, run-away leaders.

Motherwell edged out a 3 to 1 decision over St. Johnstone to bring its point-total to 40, the light blues defeating Arbroath at Ibrox Park, 3 to 1, to keep on level terms. The teams are now eight points behind Hearts and 10 behind Celtic, pace setter.

Interest in Saturday's schedule lies in the battle to stave off relegation to the Second Division. Morton, after only one season in senior company, is booked to return to the junior league next year, but 10 clubs are struggling to avoid being the Greenock squad's partner.

With a home game against Clyde, Queens Park appear to have best chances of the group.

Queen of South is at home to Hearts but can hardly hope for victory, while Ayr United goes to Glasgow for a match with the league-leading Celts. Hamilton Academicals may spring a surprise at Aberdeen, where the Dons are disappointing their supporters after a great run last year.

St. Johnstone play against St. Mirren at Paisley. St. Mirren moved into ninth position behind Partick Thistle by trimming Falkirk, 2 to 0, Wewnesday. Despite Arbroath's place among the leaders, the Gayfield Park outfit will need to play at top form against Kilmarnock. Last year the Killies won, 2 to 0.

Other games bring Rangers against Morton at Greenock, Partick Thistle entertain Motherwell. Third Lanark goes to Dundee and Falkirk and Hibernians clash at Easter Road, Edinburgh.

TO BROADCAST HOOP FEATURE

This evening at 9 CFCT will give a play by play broadcast of the third game of the basketball Dominoes-Westerns series direct from Vancouver. Duke McLeod, sports-caster for the local station, has been in the mainland city for several days lining up the broadcast, and will be heard on the game tonight.

CARDS DROP HOOP FINAL

VANCOUVER — Vancouver Westerns ended their first year of campaigning in women's basketball today by storing away the British Columbia women's senior B crown.

The crown came to Westerns last night as they handed Victoria Cardinals a convincing 47 to 30 defeat in the sudden-death final, played on a floor so slippery the Victorians could not keep their feet.

The league newcomers were never threatened throughout the game, piling up a sufficient lead in the first half to withstand a determined Victoria bid in the third quarter.

Westerns led 10 to 5 at first quarter and had increased their margin to 27 to 13 at the half. Cardinals outscored the Vancouver team 7 to 4 in the third quarter, but were unable to make up the deficit and Westerns went on to plunk in 16 points in the final session for the victory.

The teams follow:

Vancouver Westerns—M. Mitchell (2), K. Hoague (2), F. Burnham (10), J. Cameron, B. Hutchens, P. Hoague (2), B. Bell (15), T. Anderson (7), M. Wells (9), B. Howes, M. Thompson. Total 47.

Victoria Cardinals—M. Wells (4), J. Trotter (1), V. Crosby (4), C. Hall (9), K. Peden (7), E. Elston (2), P. Whyte (3), D. Prior. Total 30.

Field Bunched In Big Tourney

PINEHURST, N.C.—A mere three strokes separated the 10 top scorers today as three score pros and amateurs started out over Pinehurst's rugged and treacherous No. 2 course on the 36-hole final of the North and South golf tournament.

Bunched in the lead with 141's were Vic Ghezzi of Deal, N.C., the veteran Ed Dudley of Augusta, Ga., and Byron Nelson of Reading, Pa. only a stroke behind them were E. J. Harrison of Little Rock, Ark., Denny Shute of West Newton, Mass., and Jimmy Hines of Great Neck, L.I.

A trio of 143's bracketed Leonard Dodson of Springfield, Mo., Jim Turnesa of Providence, R.I., and Bobby Cruickshank of Richmond, Va. Harry Cooper of Chicopee, Mass., was alone at 144, the only other player to finish the first 36 holes in par figures. Par is 72.

NEW SEASONS RECOMMENDED

Island Game Club Delegates Suggest Shooting Dates For Migratory Birds

Vancouver Island hunters want November 1 to January 31 as the 1938-39 duck hunting season. Should they fail to get that they suggest the season be made as long as possible with the closing date no earlier than January 31. Best duck shooting is offered during that month.

This and other recommendations were made by delegates attending the meeting of the Affiliated Fish and Game Association of Vancouver Island in Nanaimo this week. The recommendations will be handed on to the B.C. Game Department for approval.

The meeting suggested November 1 to January 31 for geese, or the longest possible season, including the month of January. With regard to brant and snow geese the delegates favored a season from December 15 to February 28. Bag limits on the above mentioned migratory birds were approved as they are.

Practically all fish and game clubs on the island had representatives present at the parley. Members felt the shooting of migratory birds should be allowed one hour after sunset in the earlier part of the fall when days are longer and one hour before sunset when the days grow shorter. They did not approve of baiting or feeding methods or the use of live decoys by hunters.

The meeting asked the pigeon season be set from September 17 to September 30, with the same bag limit.

MOUNT VIEW ARE TITLISTS

Defeat Oak Bay High School 5 to 2 in Overtime Soccer Trophy Match

Coming through with three goals in the overtime session yesterday afternoon, Mount View High School downed Oak Bay High, 5 to 2, to win the Colonist Cup, emblematic of high school soccer supremacy.

Oak Bay High School had the wind in their favor in the first half and had the better of the play. Langton opened the scoring with a spectacular shot into the lower corner of the Mount View net. Oak Bay again took the aggressive and Sparks scored.

Mount View applied the pressure in the second half and with the wind in their favor, Kitching netted. For several minutes the teams battled evenly, but Mount View put up a stiff fight and Rose soon netted the equalizing goal. When the final whistle blew the teams were still deadlocked, 2 all, and overtime was necessary.

SAANICH LEADS

Hayward scored the second goal on a pass from Kitching and a few minutes before the final whistle cinched the game for Mount View with another beautiful shot from a pass from Kitching.

J. Cosier refereed.

Teams follow:

Mount View—Stewart, Isbister, Brookman, Adams, Kennedy, Main, Rose, Palliser, Kitching, Hayward and Harper.

Oak Bay—Brodie, McKay, Grogan, Minkler, Howell, Henderson, Sparks, Murdoch, Langton, Rutherford and Lindsay.

Battleship Captures Steeplechase By Head

Royal Danieli Is Second and Workman 3rd

Grand National Won By Son of Man-o-war in Fierce Finishing Drive

AINTREE, England—In the closest finish in years, Mrs. Marion Scott's Battleship, a chestnut horse by Man O' War out of Quarantaine, today won the 100th running of the Grand National Steeplechase.

The American-owned 11-year-old ridden by Bruce Hobbs, beat H. C. McNally's Royal Danieli by a head.

Sir Alexander Maguire's workman was third in the field of 36.

Canada's entrant, Rock Lad, owned by H. R. Bain of Toronto, fell and died. Presumably his heart gave out.

The first three to finish cleared the last fence on almost even terms, but Workman fell behind as Battleship and Royal Danieli fought it out over the final yards.

James V. Rank's chestnut mare Cooleen, second in last year's edition of the historic test and one of today's favorites, was fourth.

Then came Delachance, owned by the American J. B. Snow, in fifth place, E. T. Hunt's Red Knight II sixth, Arthur Sainsbury's favored Blue Shirt seventh, H. A. Silley's Hopeful Hero eighth, Lord Derby's Under Bid ninth, Rank's Bachelor Prince 10th, Mrs. S. H. Creagh's Lough Cottage 11th, and Mrs. J. De Selincourt's Provocative 12th.

PAYS LONG ODDS

The winner paid 40 to 1. Royal Danieli started at 18 to 1 and Workman at 28 to 1.

Battleship, which formerly raced on the flat in the United States, had his biggest year over the jumps in that country in 1934, when he won the Grand National at Belmont Park, the National Hunt Cup and three other major races.

He was taken to England in 1935, and was named for last year's Grand National, but did not start.

Battleship gave the United States its first victory since Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark's Kellsboro Jack scored in 1935, previously Charles Schwartz's Jack Horner won in 1926 and Stephen Sanford's Sergeant Murphy in 1923.

Rubio, the only other American-bred horse ever to win the race, scored in 1908, but he was owned by an Englishman.

What Have You was left at the post, trailing the leaders by 20 lengths.

OUTSIDER IN EARLY LEAD

As they took the first fence Drim, an outsider, and Airgead Sios were in front. Inversible fell at the first fence.

The first time over Becher's Brook, Airgead Sios led the way, with Royal Mail and Rockquilla next in line. Airgead Sios fell soon afterwards, however. Brighter Cottage and Takvor Pacha also tumbled. Delachance trailed far back during the early running. As they reached Anchor Bridge first time Royal Danieli and Lough Cottage were in front. What Have You dropped out of competition before completing the first half of the journey, fall-

PLEA MADE TO SAVE TIMBER

C. L. Harrison Shows Effects of Logging in Island Stands

A plea for preservation of the existing timber tracts along the West Coast and for establishment of a national park in that area was made by C. L. Harrison, city prosecutor, in a lantern slide address to Ward Three Liberal Association in Liberal headquarters last night.

Mr. Harrison warned that at the present rate of logging in a few years Vancouver Island and the province generally would be denuded of its valuable timber.

His pictures illustrated the effects of logging, showing stands of timber along the Campbell River and Cowichan Lake sections in 1912 and 1913, and as this land is at present.

Mr. Harrison also showed some of the beauty spots along the West Coast pointing to the possibilities of tourist resorts.

Stanley Creed, president, was chairman.

Prospects For Arena Bright

Everett Taylor Tells Youth Delegates 50 Per Cent of Money Underwritten

Prospects for an arena in Victoria were presented as considerably bright last night when Everett Taylor, president of the Gyro Club, told delegates from 22 local youth organizations that the club had achieved an underwriting of about 50 per cent on the total amount needed for the construction of the building.

The occasion was a youth rally in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium in support of a much-wanted arena and the enthusiasm showed the younger generation to be 100 per cent behind the movement. Norman Foster, secretary of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, was chairman.

Prominent speakers rose to expound upon the necessity of such a structure. They noted that through the absence of a suitable emporium sports had suffered severly in this city and called upon every public-spirited citizen to rally to the support of the Gyro Club when it made a fresh start toward that end in the near future.

PAULDING MANAGER

Mr. Taylor, in giving a rough outline of the Gyro Club's plan of action, told the delegates that Frank Paulding, secretary of the Y.M.C.A., whose able management went a long way toward the success of the first Community Chest drive, had been secured as manager for the new forum drive. He said he had yet to meet a business man who was not right behind the movement, plans for which were already completed.

He estimated that the project would cost in the neighborhood of $100,000, but could give no accurate figures yet as the architect's plans were not completed and other costs fixed. The Gyro president figured everything would be worked out in about a week.

Mr. Taylor noted that the location for the arena had not been definitely set, but said it would be a central spot within easy access to the general public. The structure will be of steel and concrete and fireproof. It will be constructed so that it can be enlarged, and will be suitable for all forms of indoor sport and other events. He estimated the seating capacity at 5,000 for games that did not require too much floor space and 3,000 for those events demanding greater space.

PAY DIVIDENDS

The speaker maintained that with the proper management the scheme could be made to pay substantial dividends. The surplus would be set aside to create a sinking fund. That probably would be used to repay those who contributed and helping other sports in general.

A hasty canvass of businesses employing over 20 persons showed the employer and employees to be heartily in favor of the campaign. He asked for the fullest co-operation from the youth organizations and urged them to go back to their various groups and organize a canvassing party of 250. About 600 canvassers will be used in the campaign. If the money were available an arena could be constructed within three or four months, he said in answer to a question from the audience.

Owing to the lack of a forum Victoria has been left out in the cold, soid W. C. Moresby, K.C., chairman of the Victoria Box Lacrosse Commission. He said there was a greater need for one now than ever before. He went back and sketched the history of some of the championship teams Victoria had produced in various lines of sport, and pointed out that this city was prevented from keeping in line with the big advance in the new indoor form of lacrosse. There was plenty of material for a boxla championship team here, he declared.

GOOD OF CAUSE

"Don't get the idea that those contributing will be given any special concessions in the way of passes," Mr. Moresby warned. "It's all for the good of the cause." But there was no reason why in two or three years' time that a situation could not be created whereby a surplus will be on hand. He also thought a sinking fund a good idea. In time contrubutors could be paid back.

Victoria must appear extremely backward to those on the outside looking in, said Ernest Harris, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. He pointed out that the small towns of Trail, Nelson and New Westminster had constructed handsome structures with little difficulty, and thought it a shame that Victoria had failed to do the same thus far with a far greater number to draw on for support.

Because of lack of facilities here to ensure good gates, prominent teams touring the Pacific Northwest had evaded Victoria, he said. The numerous prairie people who have come here to live lately were greatly disappointed in not finding an ice-skating arena. "Everyone of us has got to get out and do our share in this campaign. If we do that 1938 will see an arena in the city," Mr. Harris concluded.

Mrs. Alice McGregor said: "Lets have an arena that is worthy of the capital city of British Columbia." She pointed out that Victoria was the hub of a thickly - populated district and could well support a forum. She urged the youth of the city to get out and fight for that which was their heart's desire.

A committee of five was struck after the addresses. This committee will canvass the youth organizations of the city for volunteers to act in the campaign canvassing brigade. The committee members follow: E. W. Bourgue, Nigel Morgan, Len Dixon, Arthur Cownden and Miss Francis Woods.

Weir Says Research Would Save Money

Provincial Secretary, Before Commission, Discusses Social Services

A call for more health services in Canada, particularly health insurance, was made by Hon. George M. Weir, Provincial Secretary, in a special brief filed with the Rowell commission today.

Dr. Weir summarized his argument in four major points:

1. Health services represent an essential function of the state in modern society.

2. Existing health services in Canada, which are mainly in the hands of the provinces, are not adequate to safeguard the health and physical well-being of the people.

3. There is urgent need for a vigorous nation-wide attack upon ill-health and preventable deaths, which would include health insurance.

4. The existing division of powers as between the Dominion and the provinces in the field of health is essentially satisfactory because the provinces are the most suitable agencies of government to administer both public health and health insurance. But the Dominion, besides operating certain services that must be national, should adopt a greater measure of national leadership and should assist the provinces financially in meeting certain problems.

Dr. Weir submitted that the Dominion should care for Indians, immigrants and war veterans. It should protect provinces against health problems that are beyond their control such as contagious diseases from foreign countries. It should offer leadership in promoting uniform health standards between provinces, by providing research services, statistics, and expert advice on public health problems and by offering grants-in-aid to the provinces for progressive health services, including health insurance.

In periods of emergency the Dominion should be ready to help provinces financially when their health problems became too burdensome, he said.

HEALTH INSURANCE

Dr. Weir discussed health insurance in detail.

The provincial field, he argued, could be confined to a system of medical benefits from health insurance, without cash benefits. The Dominion, he thought, might give sickness cash benefits under an unemployment insurance scheme, or in connection with workmen's compensation.

"Those who advocate national jurisdiction over health insurance should also advocate, if they are to be consistent, national jurisdiction over all health services," Dr. Weir said. "For health insurance and the public health services are very intimately related, and if a health insurance system is established it should be nicely adjusted to and correlated with the public health services that are already in operation."

RESEARCH URGED

Dr. Weir also submitted a special brief on the need for research in social services in Canada, describing this new function of government, like Topsy, it had "just growed."

Canada, all told, was spending about $250,000,000 for social services every year, about one-quarter of the total public expenditure.

"There is practically no organized research under way regarding this huge segment of our public expenditure," he said. "I believe that if a tiny fraction of 1 per cent of this great expenditure were devoted to research the knowledge that would flow from it would lead to great improvements in administration and would yield huge dividends, not only in the saving of money, but also in human well-being."

Dr. Weir proposed a bureau of social service research at Ottawa and private research programs at the major universities, financed, possibly, by federal grants.

The minister said this question impinged directly upon the main problem before the commission—that of controlling costs and increasing the efficiency of government.

Sleeps As Gossip Gives Him Fortune

Transient's Luck Starts Untrue Rumor Nick Lerik Won Sweepstake

Probably due to the fact that a transient guest at the Westholme Hotel had drawn a nonstarter in the Irish Sweepstake, rumors today bestowed a $150,000 sweepstake fortune on Nick Lerik, Greek cafe man and a resident of the same hotel.

While half Victoria was envying Nick his mythical luck this morning and a reporter was trying to see him, he was sleeping quietly in his hotel room after his night shift at the cafe.

"You can't disturb him," the man at the desk told the reporter. "I don't know anything about it. But Nick's not the kind to talk. He'll be called at 10."

"Yeah, we heard about it, but we don't know for sure," said the girl at the Busy Bee Cafe where Nick works. "He's supposed to have had a telegram offering him $5,000 for a share in the ticket on Battleship. Why don't you go and see him."

"Ah fiddlesticks," she said when the reporter explained that Nick was asleep. "He wouldn't have been asleep if he had had a ticket."

At 10.30 Nick came down the hotel stairs and a reporter and cameraman who had been waiting half an hour dashed over to him.

"There's a report around town that you had a sweepstake ticket on the winner in the Grand National," the reporter said.

"Who won the Grand National?" the cafe man asked, walking down the street.

"Battleship. Did you have the winning ticket?"

"Ah, who was second?"

"Royal Danieli. Did you have a ticket on Battleship?"

"Ah, who was third?"

"Workman. Didn't you win the sweepstake?"

"If I won the sweepstake, I'd," Mr. Lerik paused a moment for thought. "I'd buy you a magazine, but I didn't."

According to B. Welton, manager of the hotel, R. Guy, Quatsino, who had been staying at the hotel for two weeks, checked out four days ago when he got a wire telling him of his luck. He caught the boat for Vancouver. A nonstarter is worth $2,300.

SEES BRIGHT FUTURE AHEAD

E. "Barry" Steers Tells Insurance Men Boom Coming in Alberta

Throughout the country conditions were exceptionally good with the possible exception of Saskatchewan and Manitoba, E. "Barry" Steers, assistant superintendent of the Mutual Life Company of Canada, told a luncheon meeting of the Life Underwriters' Association in Terry's this afternoon.

"Saskatchewan and Manitoba depend upon crops," Mr. Steers said, "and crops prospects are better in those two provinces than they have been in the last 10 years. All they need is two or three fair crops and they'll be well away."

Whatever criticism there might be of the government, Mr. Steers found Alberta on the verge of a boom.

"Sometimes we hear that in British Columbia all goes to the east and nothing comes west," he said. "My own attitude is entirely national, but it is certain that a great deal of Alberta's coming prosperity will be left on the coast."

EDMONTON ACTIVE

Mr. Steers thought there was no place west of Montreal so active as Edmonton. The seething turmoil of business there was astonishing, he said. This was due to development in the Yellow Knife district, the Great Bear Lakes and throughout the North-west Territory.

In Calgary there was almost the same amount of activity over oil. There were all kinds of wildcats, but the interest being taken by great corporations showed there were great possibilities. A third of the business of the city came directly from oil.

"By this time next month the economic forces are going to have definite effect," Mr. Steers said. "In other words by mid-April we are going to begin again that long upward climb from the depression."

Mr. Steers discussed at length the problems of insurance men and urged all to join the Life Underwriters' Association.

The speaker was introduced by Fred McGregor and thanked by W. C. Hudson. Frank Taylor, president, was in the chair.

Company Work Under Scrutiny

Rowell Pursues Question of Too Many Government Forms

The Rowell commission today probed deeply into the complaint of business that it has to file too many government returns and has to pass the cost of this on to the public.

H. G. Garrett, registrar of companies and insurance for the province, was on the stand for upwards of an hour. His conclusion, in answer to questions of J. McG. Stewart, commission counsel, was that the saving to be made by placing companies under one jurisdiction could be overemphasized.

This was largely due to the fact that he deals mainly with provincial companies which need not make returns to the Dominion.

Out of 16,000 companies formed in British Columbia since 1910 only 2,800 were extra-provincial companies which would make Dominion returns.

Estimating the average life of a British Columbia company at five years, he said there might be upwards of 5,000 companies. In the last 10 years an average of 600 British Columbia companies were formed and only 16 or 17 extra-provincial.

"Why shouldn't all provinces agree on the type of returns to be made. All expense of this sort eventually comes back on the consumer, except, of course, for things like direct income taxes. Shouldn't it be the aim of governments to cut this expense to a minimum?" asked Chief Justice Rowell.

"Our annual company returns are simple," said Mr. Garrett. An intelligent secretary could make one out in half an hour.

"We've heard that in other provinces," said the chief justice. "But the companies think differently. One national company told us they kept six men working all the time to make out government returns."

Mr. Garrett was questioned regarding inspection of trust companies and savings and loan associations and returns under the Securities Act.

He said the Securities Act, in general, principle, was much the same in different provinces but methods of administration are different.

"You can see it would be a great saving to the companies to have uniformity in returns," said the chief justice.

"It might in some cases," said Mr. Garrett, "but it is easy to overestimate such a saving."

He said there was no overlapping, practically speaking, in the insurance departments. The province accepted Dominion inspection of national companies and did its own on provincial companies.

Ink was found splashed on the floors of every classroom in the building and drawers everywhere had been ransacked.

Want More For Teachers' Pay

School Board Chairman Seeks Support in Move For Part of City Surplus

A special meeting of the City School Board was called for this afternoon at 5 to seek from the City Council a special grant which would provide an additional two months' salary for school teachers this year.

The meeting was called by Trustee P. E. George, chairman of the board, following yesterday's announcement that the council had a surplus of $111,000 this year and the suggestion that a portion may go towards restoration of civic salaries.

"It seems rather strange that after coming to the board and requesting every possible economy in this year's estimates the council should turn around and make such an announcement as this," said Trustee George, adding that the trustees had cut the teachers' salary appropriation by $3,130 in order to help meet the council's request for further reductions in estimates.

In attempting to co-operate with the Mayor and aldermen the school trustees agreed that the 5 per cent restoration of teachers' salaries should not be effective until March 1 instead of January 1, as originally intended.

In view of the council's announcement, Mr. George feels the council's request was not warranted and that the teachers were made victims of a false economy move.

The Canadian Manufacturers' Association will hold its annual meeting on Monday next at 12.15 in the Princess Charlotte Room, Empress Hotel. E. G. Rowebottom, deputy Minister of Trade and Industries, will speak on the subject: "The New Department of Trade and Industries." A. McKelvie, chairman of the B.C. division, will be present. All members are urged to attend.

Extra Vote For Forest Camps

Cost of B.C. Winter Scheme May Exceed $800,000

OTTAWA (CP)—Provision increasing to $450,000 the amount to be granted British Columbia as a 50-50 share in the cost of providing employment for single, homeless and idle men, is provided for in an order-in-council tabled in the House of Commons Thursday.

The original order, passed October 27, 1937, provided a maximum of $400,000 for this purpose but representations from the province indicated the additional expenditure would be necessary to care for a large number who would otherwise have to be given material aid.

Provincial sources said today that the extra $50,000 voted in Ottawa toward the winter relief of single men in B.C. was a conditional vote in case the winter program exceeded the original estimate of $800,000.

The program is financed on a 50-50 basis between the Dominion and province. The new Ottawa vote simply makes provision that if the original estmate is exceeded the money will be available for the Dominion's share.

Under the winter scheme 25 forest camps and one public works project are still in operation. They are taking care, in all, of 5,000 men from November to May.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear daughter and sister, Thelma.

Two years ago today since God reclaimed
One of the best the world contained.
But in our hearts her face still beams,
For we who loved her only know
How much we lost two years ago.

—Inserted by Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Davidson and family, Shawnigan Lake.

Big Commissariat For Race Crowds

AINTREE, Eng.—The London, Midland and Scottish Railway Company served 16,000 meals to the Grand National crowds today. After the race was over there was little left of: 2,500 pounds of fish, 1,700 rashers of bacon, 8,300 eggs, 5,400 pounds of meat, 750 grapefruit, 150 hams and 6,500 bottles of beer.

One railway company alone brought 34 trains of racegoers to Aintree. All arrived at the one station within three hours.

For the first time police planes are directing traffic from the air by wireless.

GRAND OPERAS THIS EVENING

Local Singers Will Appear in "Cavalleria" and "Pagliacci" at Empire Theatre

A number of leading young Victoria singers will take part tonight and tomorrow night in the productions by the Victoria Grand Opera Association of Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana" and Leoncavallo's "Pagliacci" at the Empire Theatre.

When one realizes that the 10 operas produced in three years by this association include such masterpieces as "Lohengrin," "Il Trovatore," "Faust," "Tannhauser," "Carmen," and in the lighter field "The Chimes of Normandy," performed in their entirety with only traditional cuts, these young artists, whose untiring efforts and loyalty have made these productions possible cannot be blamed for feeling very proud.

The casts of principals for tonight and tomorrow are as follows: "Cavalleria Rusticana," Thelma Johns, Rita Shearing, Vivian McCahill, Elbert Leroy Bellows and Arthur Jackman; "Pagliacci," Peggy Moore, Elbert Leroy Bellows, Fraser Lister, David Oldham and Norman Tyrrell.

Popular Stars At the Atlas

Joan Crawford and Spencer Tracy Have Leading Roles in "Mannequin"

It was a happy choice that romantically teamed Joan Crawford and Spencer Tracy for the first time in "Mannequin," which opens today at the Atlas Theatre.

Given a smartly-modern story by Katharine Brush, who wrote "Young Man of Manhattan," and able direction by Frank Borzage, the stars share honors with performances that must be numbered among the finest.

As Jessie Cassidy, a shop girl who fights her way up from the New York tenement district to a multimillionaire's penthouse, Miss Crawford has a role that is reminiscent of her portrayals in "Dancing Lady" and "Possessed," pictures that won her wide popularity. Never more beautifully gowned by Adrian, she sings charmingly a new popular hit, "Always and Always," and rises spiritedly to every dramatic occasion, particularly in scenes with Tracy.

OAK BAY THEATRE

History, romance and adventure are combined in the First National Film version of Mark Twain's immortal "The Prince and the Pauper," which is now at the Oak Bay Theatre.

BATTLESHIP CAPTURES STEEPLECHASE BY HEAD

ing at one of the difficult jumps. Stalbridge Park, one of the favorites, also fell. The first time around the course saw Delachance in front, with Royal Danieli and Battleship close behind.

Lough Cottage, Dunhill Castle, Red Knight and Rockquilla also were among the leaders. As they passed Becher's Brook the second time, the leaders were Battleship and Royal Danieli.

ROCKQUILLA FALLS

Rockquilla fell while racing with the leaders. A mile from home Workman was in front. Delachance held second place. Over the last fence Royal Danieli was leading Workman and Battleship.

It was one of the most open and heaviest betting races of the Grand National's century of renewals. At last night's callover at the Victoria Club in London alone £120,000 ($600,000) was wagered. Throughout the country millions changed hands.

Arthur Sainsbury's Blue Shirt was favorite at 100 to 15.5. The 1937 winner, Royal Mail, attempting to do what has been done only three times in a century—win the Grand National in two successive years—was backed at 100 to 7.

FAMOUS SIRE

The immortal Man O' War, sire of the winner and one of the greatest flat racers in turf annuals, recently passed his 21st birthday in his Kentucky barn. The dam of the winner, Quarantaine, was a French-bred mare now dead. She was brought to the United States in 1924 to be bred.

The Canadian-owned Rock Lad met its Waterloo at the famous water jump immediately in front of the main stands. He was well back among the 20 horses that remained of the field of 36 at that point.

He cleared the fence 2½ feet high, but landed in the 12-foot-6 water ditch. His jockey, J. Bissill, well-known amateur rider from the Midlands, was unhurt.

The race was run in clear weather after rain during the morning had softened up the course.

"Walking Down Broadway" Tells Story of Back-stage Life in Great City

"Walking Down Broadway," the excellent 20th Century-Fox production, directed by Norman Foster, opened to day at the Dominion Theatre.

The story opens on a New Year's Eve with a big musical production ending its successful run. Almost immediately the film is teeming with drama as six members of the cast sign a pact to meet again at the end of a year — no matter what their careers may bring.

Claire Trevor, Phyllis Brooks, Leah Ray, Dixie Dunbar, Lynn Bari and Jayne Regan are in the cast.

Co-featured with them are Michael Whalen, Tom Beck, Douglas Fowley, Walter Woolf King and Jed Prouty. They are the key figures in six thrilling life stories woven within one story.

Plaza to Show Family Drama

The conflict of the generations has been made the subject of a powerful and at the same time highly-entertaining screen play of American family life by Vina Delmar in the motion picture "Make Way for Tomorrow," which will open at the Plaza Theatre on Monday.

With her characteristic sympathy with the younger generation, and her deep understanding of its problems, Miss Delmar has provided a motion picture which lines up well with her best-sellers.

"Make Way for Tomorrow" is the story of a typical American daughter, played by Barbara Read, whose conceptions of a good time not only conflict with those of her parents, played by Thomas Mitchell and Fay Bainter, but those of her grandparents, played by Beulah Bondi and Victor Moore.

"Marry the Girl," a rollicking comedy starring Frank McHugh and Hugh Herbert, will be the second feature.

Disney Classic Opens Tomorrow

Following the first showing of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," which will start tomorrow at the Capitol Theatre, many from the audiences declared that the dwarfs will be able to claim stardom in their own right. However, while their engaging qualities will endear them to millions, back in the paint pots they went when Walt Disney completed the picture. He feels that to bring any of the "Snow White" characters to the screen again would be an anti-climax.

Arion Club Invited To Sing in Oregon

The second concert of the 46th season and the 115th regular concert of the Arion Club, the oldest male voice choir in Canada, will be held in the Empress Hotel ballroom on the evening of April 22, when several of the club's favorite numbers will be rendered, including "Monks and Pirates" and "Break, Break, Break," as well as new numbers recently acquired.

An invitation has been received by the Arion Club to visit Eugene, Oregon, accepting the hospitality of the Eugene Glee Club, to give a joint concert with that club on May 23. The Victoria music lovers will remember the splendid performance given by this club at the Drill Hall in June of last year as part of the 75th anniversary of the City of Victoria.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

America's frontier is rapidly disappearing, yet it will never die in the minds of people, because it is being perserved for the years to come by Buck Jones' films of the old west. In almost every one of his productions, Buck uses historic landmarks as a background.

FISHERMEN IN NAVAL RESERVE

Commons Told of B.C. Organization as Mackenzie Outlines Defence

OTTAWA (CP) — Possibility the day might come when Canada would be called on to take a stand against brute force, might and ruthlessness in common with other democratic nations was envisaged by Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Defence Minister, as he made his annual statement on his estimates in the House of Commons Thursday afternoon.

Canada's defence policy now is the same as a year ago, he declared. It is along-range armament policy directed to the defence of Canadian neutrality, of Canadian coasts and Canadian ports against aggression or raid from any quarter. There are no commitments and no plans for operations outside Canada or for participation in any war beyond Canadian territory.

Mr. Mackenzie told the House the possibility of a fishermen's naval reserve on the British Columbia coast was being considered. He said instructions had been given to a naval officer two months before parliament opened to consider feasibility of such a fishermen's reserve. When it had been established fully, a similar organization would be undertaken on the Atlantic coast.

B.C. WORKS LEAD

The minister said a survey of coastal defence had been completed.

Fortification of the coasts was proceeding, with priority being given the Pacific Coast plans. The first stake of the works there had been completed and the second would be completed this year.

The defences were proceeding on an interim plan because deliveries of heavy ordnance from the United Kingdom could not be obtained at the moment. The ammunition depot in the interior of British Columbia would be completed this year and another near the Atlantic coast started, said the minister.

A survey had been made of industrial plants across Canada, which could be turned into military stores and a complete classification of the whole industrial set-up of the Dominion would be ready before long, Mr. Mackenzie said.

The minister reiterated that first consideration was being given to air services, next to naval defence and third to militia equipment.

TOTAL IS $34,000,000

The shadow of a disturbed world hung over the House as Mr. Mackenzie sought approval of a defence program involving an expenditure of $34,000,000 for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1939, just $2,000,000 short of expenditures for the fiscal year ending this month.

There was less criticism of the program for its extent than last year. There was some on the score it was too small. One member who had opposed last year's estimates announced he had changed his mind. All in all it was a more sympathetic and harmonious House which listened to the minister's defence statement than on the same occasion a year ago.

No policy which did violence to Canadian unity would be of much value to Canada or any other country, said the minister. But the nations of the world were apparently dividing into friends of freedom and friends of force.

CANADA'S TREASURES

If a clash was bound to come and if civilization was imperilled, possibly Canada, in seeking to preserve national unity, might have to look back on the treasures of culture she inherited from France, the institutions of government which came from Great Britain and the traditions of freedom cherished in the United States and:

"Must be prepared for the preservation of the best there is in these three nations, and the best there is within her own boundaries—the best there is in democracy—to take her stand, if need be, against brute force and might and ruthlessness, and, if need be, for high purposes, to endure sore travail."

Canada was definitely opposed to extraneous commitments and entanglements and public opinion favored a rational policy of defence. The vast bulk of opinion was against the doctrine that when Great Britain was at war Canada should be at war, and also the doctrine that when the League of Nations decreed sanctions Canada should automatically act.

Public opinion would decide future issues as they arose. Governments might proclaim policies and dogmas, but the ultimate issues would be decided by the will of the people.

DANGER OF RAIDS

The minister expressed satisfaction with the progress made in the past year in putting Canada's defences in order and declared the same work would continue. Plans had been worked out for the defence of the two coasts against the type of aggression experts believed most likely.

On neither coast was any major invasion to be anticipated. On the east the British fleet in the north Atlantic was a protection against a large attack by a European power. On the west friendly fleets were a similar buffer against the trans-Pacific movement of a large force.

Sporadic raids by combined land, sea and air forces for the purpose of destroying some strategic object or establishing an advance base for other operations, however, might be anticipated. So also there might be hit-and-run attacks on ports and shipping by fast cruisers and submarines.

It was against that type of warfare that the department was directing its most serious thought, he said. Combating it required naval and air forces capable of locating and destroying any hostile craft which might near Canadian shores.

AIR FORCE

In the defence program, priority given to air services first and naval services second resulted from the necessity of preparing for raids of that character. During the coming fiscal year 75 new airplanes would be purchased and two new destroyers.

He said the two destroyers being purchased from the British Admiralty would cost $1,928,000, making six in all. Four of them would be placed on the Pacific Coast and two on the Atlantic.

The money being voted would give Canada 10 air squadrons in the permanent militia and 12 in the nonpermanent, although they would not be fully manned or equipped. Work would be carried out this year on development of airdromes and bases at Aliford Bay, Queen Charlotte Islands, Patricia Bay, Vancouver Island, and Prince Rupert on the Pacific, and at Dartmouth, Yarmouth, Truro and Sydney on the Atlantic.

Replenishing and modernizing the equipment of the militia services came third to the others in point of priority of attention.

In the debate following Mr. Mackenzie's statement, Maxime Raymond, Liberal, Beauharnois-LaPrairie, Que., one of the French-Canadian members who voted against the armament appropriation last session, announced he would support it this year.

UNDERSTANDING WITH U.S.

Miss Agnes MacPhail, U.F.O.-Labor, Grey-Bruce, Ont., struck new ground when she said Canada and the United States should have a definite understanding on defence.

"Our business," Miss MacPhail stated, "is to do what we can on the North American continent. So, if we are going to stress that fact and if our national policy is going to be directed towards keeping out of European difficulties and the protection of North America, then I think there should be an understanding between the United States and Canada, because we share the Atlantic and Pacific coastlines."

In Miss MacPhail's opinion "Our British connection is our greatest danger because we all—I am not an exception—worry about what would happen in London, in Glasgow or the countries or cities which, because of our families, have come to mean a great deal to us."

Only three Conservatives spoke. J. R. MacNicol, Conservative, Toronto-Davenport, stressed the need of sufficient gasmasks in Canada. Fred C. Betts, Conservative, London, Ont., protested because he did not believe there were sufficient planes and coastal defences to repel an air attack. T. L. Church, Conservative, Toronto-Broadview, favored adequate defence.

CHICAGO (AP) — Reactions because of sympathy with tumbles of securities carried wheat down a cent a bushel here late today.

Liberal quantities of wheat futures were offered by holders who found no purchasers except at substantial declines in quotations. Forecasts of freezing temperatures in parts of the United States winter wheat belt were practically ignored.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were at the day's bottom level, ⅝ to 1 cent under yesterday's finish, May 85⅞ to 86, July 82½ to 82⅝, corn ⅛ to ⅝ up, May 60⅝ to 60¾, July 62¼ to 62⅜, and oats ¼ lower to ⅛ higher.

Losses Run Five or More Points Today

NEW YORK (AP) — Stocks crashed through support levels in today's market, many tumbling to new lows for the past three years or longer with losses running to 5 or more points.

Blame for the relapse was placed on a combination of circumstances, including fears of fresh troubles in France, doubts over business prospects for the near term and general discouragement of stockholders over recent ineffectual attempts at rallies.

Prices were somewhat lower at the opening and the list jogged along in about a point range until shortly after noon when selling in steels touched off a sharp downturn in other industrial groups. Rails and utilities were more resistant than most, but even those followed the trend.

Volume picked up on the backswing and the ticker tape was behind near the close.

Transfers approximated 1,400,000 shares.

(By H. A. Humber Ltd.)

Dow Jones averages closed today as follows:

Thirty industrials — 108.58, off 6.06.

Twenty rails—19.96, off 2.03.

Twenty utilities—16.38, off 0.93.

Forty bonds — 85.54, off 0.38.

Late Trading Sees Sagging Prices

MONTREAL (CP)—Late trading brought sagging prices on Montreal Stock Exchange today and losses of as much as two appeared in sympathy with weakness in New York.

Smelters eased two, International Nickel gave up a little more than two and Noranda sold down a couple. Dominion Bridge weakened a point.

Royalite, Nickel, Dome Lose Two

TORONTO (CP) — Prices churned about and closed lower today after registering a narrow net gain in the mines at noon and only a light recession in the industrials.

Dome, down about 2, and Nickel, off 2 or more, were outstanding recessions.

Imperial Oil sold around 17 for a drop of a small fraction. International Petroleum touched 25¾ and recovered slightly. British American closed down a half.

BORROWING FOR PROFIT

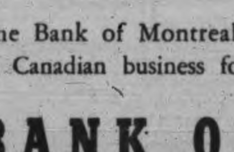
"to every business comes a time to borrow," for instance......

To Carry On

Farmers are not the only business men who need to borrow to make next season's "crop" possible.

Manufacturers have to purchase raw materials for a "crop" of future finished products.

Wholesalers must stock up in advance and warehouse their goods, if they wish a seasonal harvest of business.



Retailers, buying for the new season's demands, may need money to take advantage of discounts.

Many lines of business need to borrow, in order to carry on.

The Bank of Montreal makes loans to all kinds of Canadian business for such constructive purposes.

Sharks of the Pacific

The Pacific Ocean has its share of sharks, perhaps more than its share.

Around the coasts of the islands of Japan live the so-called "Japanese sharks." They are not so "fierce" as many other kinds, but they are noted because of their strange shape. They grow to a length of six or seven feet, but their bodies are not more than four inches thick in any part! These long, thin fish may make us think of eels.

Gaffing a tiger shark.

Blue sharks live in the warmer parts of the Pacific, as well as in the Atlantic. They grow to a length of from 12 to 15 feet. Sometimes they cut into the nets of fishermen with their sharp teeth. This makes the fishermen look upon them as enemies, but far worse is the fact that they can harm people. Many persons swimming in the ocean have been hurt or killed by blue sharks.

White sharks are far larger than the blue sharks, and also are classed as "man-eaters." They reach a length of from 30 to 40 feet, and have large sharp teeth of triangle shape.

The white shark has a pointed snout, and its mouth is of crescent shape. In the stomach of a white shark 30 feet long, a young sea lion was found. The sea lion weighed 100 pounds.

The largest of all living fish is the "whale shark." It grows to a length of 60 feet or more, and is found in both the Pacific and the Indian Oceans. I am glad to say it is classed as "a harmless fish," that is, it appears not to eat people.

When I say that whale sharks are the largest of all living fish, I do not mean they are the largest ocean animals. Some kinds of whales are far longer (not to speak of their far greater bulk), but whales are mammals, not fish.

Over in China I heard a great deal about shark fins. The fins are dried and "cured." Later they are boiled and the soft parts are eaten. Sometimes the fins are boiled in chicken soup to give them flavor.

In Shanghai I was given a bill of fare listing many dishes served at a certain restaurant. Shark's fins were listed five times. You could get them with minced chicken, boiled chicken or shredded chicken, or with scrambled eggs. Shark's fins with brown sauce cost $5 in Chinese money, or about $1.50 in our money.

HOROSCOPE

Saturday, March 26, 1938

After the early morning hours benefic aspects rule, according to astrology. The day is most fortunate for those who direct the destinies of large groups of men and women.

Women should be careful not to irritate men with whom they are associated. In the home, domestic peace may be easily disturbed while offices may be battlegrounds.

Nerve strain will be evident in ill temper manifested on slight provocation. Change and recreation are recommended for all who have carried heavy responsibilities.

Leaders of every sort should benefit in the late hours of the day, when they may count on more co-operation and less jealousy. This configuration affects alike government and labor executives.

The young King of Egypt comes under ill omens with Jupiter in the tenth at Cairo. Serious difficulty with a foreign power as well as internal unrest are indicated.

Secret plotting is presaged in Russia, affecting her relations with other powers. The fact that Jupiter is in the country's ruling sign may avert war with an Oriental foe.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of general good luck. Financial affairs will be satisfactory to both men and women, if the stars are rightly read.

Children born on this day probably will be dominating in character, far-seeing and interested in constructive work. Subjects of this sign have strong mentality and are good leaders.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—Do you think the modern idea of colleges having courses in the study of marriage a wise policy? Should a young man who gets a salary of $1,800 attempt to give his fiancee an engagement ring that costs $300?

UNWILLING BACHELOR.

Answer: I am heartily in favor of the study of marriage being included in every college curriculum. Since virtually all young people expect to marry, why should they not be taught in school something about how to make a success of the most important thing they are ever going to do in life? It is amazing, when you come to think of it, that for thousands of years we have spent so much time and money teaching youngsters higher mathematics and the dead languages and law and medicine and so on, but we have never thought it worth while to include marriage in the branches of the higher education.

Yet what boys and girls need to know more than anything else in the world is how to tell whether they are in love for keeps, or just have a passing heart attack; how to pick out a husband or wife and how to get along with same after they have been acquired.

Heretofore we have left the matter entirely to individual experimentation in which the knowledge acquired always came too late to be of any service. So if schoolgirls and boys can be taught in school the A B C of how to be happy though married, it will save many a disaster. That a college course in marriage meets a long-felt want is amply proven by the fact that the classes are all crowded.

A psychologist who lectures in one such class tells me that he stresses nothing so much as heredity, and that he tries to make his students realize the importance of picking out for a husband or wife the kind of man or woman that they would like to have for the father or mother of their children. That in itself justifies the college course in marriage. For if you can make boys and girls conscious of their responsibility to their children they will use more discretion in selecting their mates.

I do not think that on an $1,800 salary a boy can afford a $300 diamond engagement ring, and I don't think the right sort of a girl would want him to put that money into one. She would know that he would have to run into debt for it, and any woman who is party to a man's extravagance is a poor bet as a wife.

Ambassador Sees No Early Europe War

LONDON (AP)—United States Ambassador Joseph Patrick Kennedy Thursday night counseled Americans at home to put out of their minds "worries that a general war in Europe is in the immediate offing."

The ambassador listened to the House of Commons debate on foreign policy and then went to an American Club dinner, where he declared:

"I feel safe in predicting that no such thing (a European war) will happen for the rest of this year at least."

Soviet Eyes Pacts As War Talk Heard

NEW YORK (AP)—Alexander A. Troyanovsky, Russian ambassador to the United States, asserted Thursday night that "it is very likely the Soviet Union will be involved" should there be a world war "because of treaties with other countries."

He made this assertion in the second of two speeches. In both he said of the red army: "We can take care of ourselves."

Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

TELLS SAFE, SIMPLE WAY TO TREAT AND RELIEVE AT HOME

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh, or if the phlegm drops in your throat and has caused catarrh of the stomach or bowels you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms may be entirely overcome in many instances by the following treatment which you can easily prepare in your own home at little cost. Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmint (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. An improvement is sometimes noted after the first day's treatment. Breathing should become easy, while the distressing head noises, headaches, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., should gradually disappear under the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell, taste, defective hearing and mucus dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms which suggest the presence of catarrh and which may often be overcome by this efficacious treatment. It is said that nearly ninety per cent of all ear troubles are caused by catarrh and there must, therefore, be many people whose hearing may be restored by this simple, harmless, home treatment.

Europe Passenger Bookings in Slump

Unsettled Affairs Make North Americans Hesitant About Going Abroad

NEW YORK—Ship-line officials said this week that confusion had developed in the bookings of passengers to Europe because of the international developments of the last few weeks.

Bookings have slumped sharply, they said, but cancellations are few, indicating potential travelers are adopting a "watchful-waiting" policy.

It was agreed generally that bookings this year were behind those of a year ago. The officials feel, however, the slump is a reaction to the upset conditions throughout the world and that developments of a reassuring nature in the near future will result in the renewal of the rush for bookings which was under way a few weeks ago.

COASTS AFRAID

Harold P. Borer, general passenger manager of the Cunard-White Start Line said that the total volume of bookings on ships of his company was holding up well, but those on both Atlantic and Pacific Coasts had slumped severely.

"The travel trade," he said, "has assumed a spotty condition, with agents in the Middle West reporting, in some cases, their totals better than they were in the peak year of 1929, while on the coasts the trade is quiet. The reason is, no doubt, the coastal cities are closer to the troubled areas in Europe and Asia and residents are hesitant to book until they see developments."

Other passenger men were less optimistic than Mr. Borer. The passenger department of two large trans-Atlantic lines said that bookings in the last five days had virtually "stopped dead."

John Schroeder, director of the Hapag-Lloyd Line, said he had noted no unusual effects of the situation in Austria on the travel activties of the line.

"I believe the recent development may benefit travel," he said. "The world has wondered for some time what would occur in Austria and now the uncertainty is ended, a situation that generally helps travel. The new status of Austria will mean the elimination of one more item as far as passports and travel between Germany and Austria are concerned.

Lichens, that grow in the woods on trees and rocks, rarely appear near cities because they are sensitive to gases and dust.

OTTAWA (CP) — Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader in the Senate, plans to make a statement in a few days on his position regarding leadership of the Federal Conservative Party.

TROOPS BACK FROM CHINA

"Can Do" Regiment Reaches Tacoma From Tientsin

SEATTLE—Home from service in China, 800 officers and men and 400 wives and children of the 15th United States Infantry were transported in seemingly endless lines of trucks yesterday from the transport U.S. Grant in Tacoma Harbor to their new home at Fort Lewis.

The famous "Can Do" regiment, which has been stationed at Tientsin for 26 years and has served in the Orient since the Boxer Rebellion of 1900, was the first contingent of American troops to arrive from foreign shores since the last American doughboys arrived from Germany in 1923.

Ships in the harbor roared a welcome to the white transport; airplanes saluted overhead and spectators on the wharf cheered loudly.

The men talked of leaving Tientsin, of the thousands of Chinese inhabitants who watched a little sadly as they left, and of the honors accorded them by England's Lancashire Fusiliers, the Tientsin British Emergency Corps, a French infantry regiment and a body of Italian Marines.

High point on the Pacific voyage itself concerned the birth at sea of a daughter to Lieut. and Mrs. Edwin Messinger. The baby was named Diane Grant.

The oldest man, in point of service in the regiment was Sergt. Ross H. Scott, who joined in China two years after its arrival, and has served—save for two years spent overseas during the World War—24 years in China.
